The vp shows some attention to construction. Most items are neatly trimmed. All items are securely attached to the backing. A few barely noticeable stray marks, smudges or glue stains are present. Nothing is hanging over the edges.	The vp was put together sloppily. Items appear to be just "slapped on". Pieces may be loose or hanging over the edges. Smudges, stains, tape, uneven edges, and/or stray marks are evident.
Design	Graphics are trimmed to an appropriate size and interesting shape and are arranged well, some in front and some behind. Care has been taken to balance presentation.	Graphics are trimmed to an appropriate size and interesting shape and are arranged well with some some in front and others behind. The presentation however does not appear balanced	Graphics have been trimmed to an appropriate size and shape, but the arrangement of items is not very attractive. It appears there was not a lot of planning of the item placement.	Graphics are not trimmed OR of inappropriate size and/or shape. It appears little attention was given to designing the visual presentation.
Attention to Theme	The student gives a reasonable explanation of how every item in the presentation is related to the assigned theme. For most items, the relationship is clear without explanation.	The student gives a reasonable explanation of how most items in the vp are related to the assigned theme. For many of the items, the relationship is clear without explanation.	The student gives a fairly reasonable explanation of how most items in the vp are related to the assigned theme.	The student's explanations are weak and illustrate difficulty understanding how to relate items to the assigned theme.
Time and Effort	Class time was used wisely. Much time and effort went into the planning and design of the vp. It is clear the student worked at home as well as at school.	Class time was used wisely. Student could have put in more time and effort at home.	Class time was not always used wisely but student did do some additional work at home.	Class time was not used wisely and the student put no additional effort.

Introduction

This document will assist you in testing your HP fax machine using the HP Fax Test Service. Print this document for easy reference by clicking the Printable Version icon in the upper right corner of this page.

Test your fax machine

To test the compatibility of your fax machine, follow the directions below.

NOTE: Be sure that your phone line is not busy. Disconnect any devices from your telephone line prior to attempting to send and receive a fax. Testing. All before calling the test. If you are not sure, call your HP Printing Assistance Center. Other phone company services can prevent you from receiving a fax, including voice mail, call blocking, or call privacy features.

NOTE: Additional troubleshooting. For issues that is good practice to run the Automatic Repair option in Fax Setup Wizard before attempting the test. This may solve if the source fax fails, as it can correct the wrong settings. Refer to the troubleshooting. This option is available in different places on the fax machine. Please see the guide or user's guide for specific steps.

Send a one page black and white test fax to 1-866-846-4329 (1-866-HP-FAXES).

When you receive a call by the HP test. For service, you will receive a return fax to you within five minutes confirming that we received your fax. This verifies that your fax both send and receive a fax with your fax machine.

If you do not receive a return fax within 5-7 minutes, there may be a problem with the setup of your fax machine. Consult the user manual that came with the product for proper setup and troubleshooting.

NOTE: The caller ID on outbound faxes to Hewlett-Packard may not match the Fax Header on the machine. It may not match the one set in the phone line connected to the fax. Also, ensure that the fax header contains the 10 digit telephone number of the fax machine, including the area code.

For more information on each issue, click Contact HP at the top of this page.

4. Closure of the Larynx

☐ Supraglottic swallow — saliva/food _____

This technique is designed to close the airway at the level of the vocal folds. This is useful if food is getting into your airway, during the swallow.

1. Take a breath.
2. Let a little out.
3. Hold your breath tightly as you swallow.
4. Swallow, squeezing as hard as you can.
5. Cough.
6. Swallow again.

☐ Supraglottic swallow with effortful swallow — saliva/food _____

This technique is similar to the supraglottic swallow. It is designed to achieve closure of the airway not only at the vocal folds but also above the vocal folds too. It is useful if food or liquid is getting into your airway before or during the swallow. It can also help improve the timing of the swallow so that the larynx starts moving, which helps it close, and the base of the tongue moves appropriately.

1. Take a breath.
2. Let a little out.
3. Hold your breath as you swallow tightly as possible.
4. Swallow, squeezing as hard as you can.
5. Cough.
6. Swallow again.

☐ Breath hold/Valsalva maneuver

This technique is designed to improve closure at the vocal folds, which is helpful if food or liquid is getting into the airway during the swallow.

1. Take a breath.
2. Bear down and hold your breath. You should not hold your breath with your lips, but in your throat, as though you are trying to lift something very heavy.
3. Hold for 5 seconds and then let go.

☐ Push pull with pronation

This technique gets the vocal folds closing together more tightly. This is helpful if food or liquid is getting into the airway during the swallow.

1. Place your hand(s) under your chin and pull up. If you can't lift your chin up with your hand in it, (You can also do this by standing up and pushing against the wall as if you were trying to move the wall.) Place hands against each Other and push force/pressure against one another.
2. Hold your breath tightly.
3. Let go of your breath (still pulling) and say "ah."

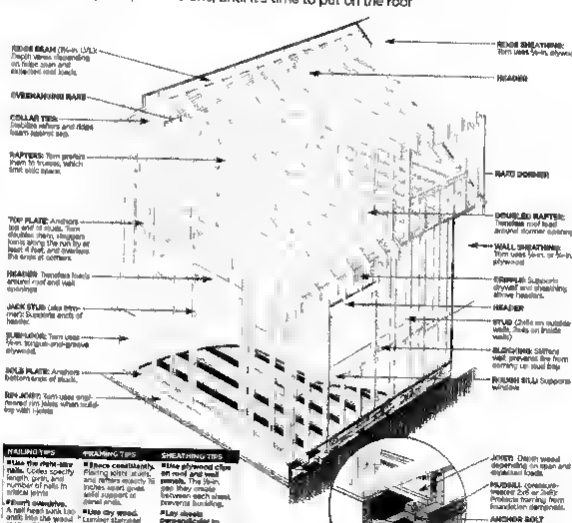
Building It Right

House frames can be made out of thick posts and beams (the oldest framing method) or extra-long studs (the balloon frames of the Victorian era). But Tom Silva typically frames in one-story "platforms" consisting of 8- or 9-foot-high stud walls resting on a plywood-sheathed subfloor. Each story is framed atop the previous one, until it's time to put on the roof.



RIDGE BEAM (Wide, thick beam allows cleaning on ridge seam and attached roof loads.
OVERHANGING RAFF
COLLAR TIES: Doubles rafters and ties beam against sag.
RAFTERS: Tom prefers them to trusses, which limit attic space.
TOP PLATE: Anchors top end of studs. Tom doubles them; staggers joints along the run by at least 4 feet, and maintains the ends at corners.
HEADER: Transfers loads around roof and wall openings.
JACK STUD (aka trimmer): Supports ends of header.
SUBFLOOR: Tom uses ¾-in. tongue-and-groove plywood.
SOLE PLATE: Anchors bottom ends of studs.
RIM JOIST: Tom uses engineered rim joists when loads are very high.
RIDGE SHEATHING: Tom uses ¾-in. plywood.
HEADER
RAFTER
RAFTER DORMER
DOUBLED RAFTER: Transfers roof load around dormer opening.
WALL SHEATHING: Tom uses ½-in. or ¾-in. plywood.
STRAPPING: Supports drywall and sheathing above headers.
HEADER
STUD (Drills on outside walls, looks on inside walls.)
BLOCKING: Stiffens wall; prevents fire from spreading up stud bay.
WINDOW SILL: Supports window.
JOIST: Depth varied depending on span and anticipated loads.
RUNNER: Pressure-treated 2x4 or 2x6. Protects framing from foundation dampness.
ANCHOR BOLT
SILL SEAL (compressible foam strip): Fills gaps between foundation and mudsill.

NAILING TIPS	FRAMING TIPS	SHEATHING TIPS
Use the right-size nails. Codes specify length, girth, and number of nails in critical areas.	Brace constantly. Flashing lights, stakes, and rafters exactly to inches, wood gives solid support at panel ends.	Use plywood clips on roof and wall panels. The clips help keep panels between each sheet, prevents buckling.
Don't overdrive. A nail head sunk too deeply into the wood won't pull its full weight.	Use dry wood. Lumber stamped "S-Dry" or "MC" (kiln dried) is less likely to warp and twist.	Lay sheets perpendicular to framing. Increases overall strength and stiffness.
	Keep wood dry. Block decks off the ground and cover them with tarps.	Size and fasten. Adhesives can improve joint strength by a third.

As I was walking up the stair
I met a man who wasn't there
He wasn't there again today
Oh how I wish he'd go away

When I came home last night at three
The man was waiting there for me
But when I looked around the hall
I couldn't see him there at all!
Go away, go away, don't you come back any more!
Go away, go away, and please don't slam the door

Last night I saw upon the stair
A little man who wasn't there
He wasn't there again today
Oh how I wish he'd go away

Thank you for beta-testing MakeMKV. Please see viewtopic.php?f=5&t=1054 for information about latest version.

The linux release includes full source code for MakeMKV GUI, libmakemkv multiplexer library and libdriveio MMC drive interrogation library. Please use this forum for an up to date download and setup instructions. You need to follow the steps outlined below to compile and install the application and all libraries.
Download both binary and source packages:
http://www.makemkv.com/download/makemkv-bin-1.6.8.tar.gz
http://www.makemkv.com/download/makemkv-oss-1.6.8.tar.gz

Make sure you have all required tools and libraries installed. You'll need GNU compiler and linker and header and library files for following libraries: glibc, openssl-0.9.8, zlib, qt4. You may use the following command to install all prerequisites on debian-based system like ubuntu:
Code:
sudo apt-get install build-essential libc6-dev libssl-dev libgl1-mesa-dev libqt4-dev

Unpack both packages and starting from source package do the following steps for each package:
Code:
make -f makefile.linux sudo make -f makefile.linux install

The application will be installed as "/usr/bin/makemkv"

Please share your experience in this forum

HISTORICAL HAPPENINGS

1974 President Richard Nixon signs a bill lowering the maximum U S speed limit to 55 MPH in order to conserve gasoline during an OPEC embargo

ONE-LINERS Signs Your Vet Bill Is Going To Require Financing

-- The doc's thermometer registers in Fahrenheit, Celsius and dollars.
-- Your Doberman just ate the receptionist.
-- "He has a very rare blood type. It's called 'SS Positive'"
-- He starts talking about extended quality of life, miracles of modern veterinary medicine and joint replacement procedures. You own a goldfish.
-- The sad, pathetic whining in the exam room is coming from the owners
-- "Do you have any idea how expensive hamster defibrillators are?"
-- and the #1 Sign Your Veterinary Bill is Going to Require Financing:
"We can rebuild him. Make him stronger, faster..."

Two airheads are nailing siding onto a house.
Airhead 1: "Y'know, when I pull nails out of the bag, half of them are pointing the wrong direction."
Airhead 2: "Of course, dummy! Those are the nails for the other side of the house."

TODAY IN TRIVIA What was 7-Up originally? The popular beverage 7-Up was originally a version of a "lithiated" patent medicine containing small amounts of lithium. An entry here is that it was introduced to the U. S. markets during the 1930s - the height of the Great Depression.

THAT'S (ALMOST) ALL FOLKS!

Thought for the day: History shows us that the people who end up changing the world the great political, social, scientific, technological, artistic, even sports revolutionaries are always nuts, until they are right, and then they are geniuses. John Eliot

Ch 11 – PP&E Use and Impairment

Depreciation, amortization, and depletion
- Basic issues

– Cost allocation across periods
  - Service life
  - revenue base
  - Allocation method

Partial periods

– Changes in estimates and methods
  Error corrections
  Impairment
  Subsequent expenditures

Matching Principle

- Revenue recognition and expense match ng paradigm in accounting 1938 until 1962
- Asset and liability recognition paradigm
  - Post 1962

– Depreciation can be "rationalized" under either approach
  - Matching expense with the time when revenue is recognized
  - Expensing the valuation in valuation of the asset as it is used up

Cost Allocation – An Overview

The matching principle requires that part of the acquisition cost of property, plant, and equipment and intangible assets be expensed in periods when the future revenues are realized.

Depreciation, depletion, and amortization are cost allocation processes used to help meet the matching principle requirements.

Some of the cost is expensed each period.

Asset/Item Cost (Balance Sheet) → Expense (Income Statement)

Cost Allocation – An Overview

Asset
Tangible	Intangible	Natural Resources
Plant, PP&E, & Equipment	Patents and Copyrights	Natural Gas and Petroleum
Natural Resources	Depletion	Natural Resource Assets
Land rights	Amortization	Intangible Asset

Caution! Depreciation, depletion, and amortization are processes of cost allocation, not valuation

Property, plant, and equipment:
Land and buildings	$ 300,000
Machinery and equipment	360,000
Less: buildings and equipment	(60,000)
Land improvements	90,000
Total	$ 690,000
Less: accumulated depreciation	(60,000)
PP, property, plant and equipment	$ 630,000

Depreciation is not on the balance sheet.

Measuring Cost Allocation

Cost allocation requires three pieces of information for each asset

Service Life → The estimated expected use from an asset.

Allocation Base → The systematic approach used for allocation.

Allocation Method

Total amount of cost to be allocated
Cost - Residual Value (at end of useful life)

Depreciation

Time based Methods
- Straight-line (SL)
- Accelerated Methods
  - Sum-of the-years' digits (SYD)
  - Declining Balance (DB)

Group and composite methods

Tax depreciation

Activity-based methods
Units-of-production method (UOP)

Billy Taylor, the noted jazz pianist and educator who enjoyed tremendous success on television, has died. He was 89.

Taylor died Tuesday of heart failure in New York, his daughter, Kim Taylor Thompson, told The New York Times.

See other celebrities who died this year

A longtime fixture on television unlike many of his contemporaries, Taylor served as cultural correspondent on CBS News' Sunday Morning and was the first African-American to lead a talk show band when he was bandleader for The David Frost Show from 1969 to '72.

He first made his mark on TV in 1958 as the musical director of NBC's The Subject Is Jazz, the first TV series that covered jazz.

Born in North Carolina and raised in Washington, D.C., Taylor earned a doctorate in music education from the University of Massachusetts at Amherst and preferred to be called Doctor Taylor.

IMPORTANT TERMS – PLEASE READ THIS

1. DISPUTE RESOLUTION BY BINDING ARBITRATION.

1.1 Summary of Arbitration Agreement. Please read this carefully. It affects your rights. Most customer concerns can be resolved quickly and to the customer's satisfaction by calling our customer service department at 1-800-331-0500. In the unlikely event that AT&T's customer service department is unable to resolve a complaint you may have to your satisfaction (or if AT&T has not been able to resolve a dispute it has with you after attempting to do so informally), we each agree to resolve those disputes through binding arbitration or small claims court instead of in courts of general jurisdiction. Arbitration is more informal than a lawsuit in court. Arbitration uses a neutral arbitrator instead of a judge or jury, allows for more limited discovery than in court, and is subject to very limited review by courts. Arbitrators can award the same damages and relief that a court can award. Any arbitration under this Agreement will take place on an individual basis; class arbitrations and class actions are not permitted. For any non-frivolous claim that does not exceed $75,000, AT&T will pay all costs of the arbitration. The power to arbitration you are entitled to recover attorneys' fees from AT&T to at least the same extent as you would be in court.
In addition, under certain circumstances (as explained below), AT&T will pay you more than the amount of the arbitrator's award and will pay you attorney fees and reasonable attorneys' fees if the arbitrator awards you an amount that is greater than what AT&T has offered you to settle the dispute.

1.2 Arbitration Agreement.
(1) AT&T and you agree to arbitrate all disputes and claims between us. This agreement to arbitrate is intended to be broadly interpreted. It includes, but is not limited to:
- claims arising out of or relating to any aspect of the relationship between us, whether based in contract, tort, statute, fraud, misrepresentation or any other legal theory;
- claims that arose before this or any prior Agreement (including, but not limited to, claims relating to advertising);
- claims that are currently the subject of purported class action litigation in which you are not a member of a certified class; and
- claims that may arise after the termination of this Agreement.

References to "AT&T," "you," and "us" include our respective subsidiaries, affiliates, agents, employees, predecessors in interest, successors, and assigns, as well as all authorized or unauthorized users or beneficiaries of services or devices under this or prior agreements between us. Notwithstanding the foregoing, either party may bring an individual action in small claims court. This arbitration agreement does not prevent you from bringing issues to the attention of federal, state, or local agencies including, for example, the Federal Communications Commission. Such agencies can, if the law allows, seek relief against us on your behalf. You agree that, by entering into this Agreement, you and AT&T are each waiving the right to a trial by jury or to participate in a class action. This Agreement evidences a transaction in interstate commerce, and the Federal Arbitration Act governs the interpretation and enforcement of this provision. This arbitration provision shall survive termination of this Agreement.
(2) A party who intends to seek arbitration must first send to the other, by certified mail, a written Notice of Dispute ("Notice"). The Notice to AT&T should be addressed to: Office for Dispute Resolution, AT&T, 1010 Lenox Park Blvd. Atlanta GA 30319 ("Notice Address"). The Notice must (a) describe the nature and basis of the claim or dispute, and (b) set forth the specific relief sought ("Demand"). If AT&T and you do not reach an agreement to resolve the claim within 30 days after the Notice is received, you or AT&T may commence an arbitration proceeding. During the arbitration, the amount of any settlement offer made by AT&T or you shall not be disclosed to the arbitrator until after the arbitrator determines the amount, if any, to which you or AT&T is entitled. You may download or copy a form Notice and a form to initiate arbitration at att.com/arbitration-forms.
(3) After AT&T receives notice at the Notice Address that you have commenced arbitration, it will promptly reimburse you for your payment of the filing fee, unless your claim is for greater than $75,000. (The filing fee currently is $200 for claims under $10,000 but is subject to change by the arbitration provider. If you are unable to pay this fee, AT&T will pay it directly upon receiving a written request at the Notice Address.) The arbitration will be governed by the Consumer Arbitration Rules ("AAA Rules") of the American Arbitration Association ("AAA"), as modified by this Agreement, and will be administered by the AAA. The AAA Rules are available online at adr.org, by calling the AAA at 1-800-778-7879, or by writing to the Notice Address. (You may obtain information that is designed to help consumers about the arbitration process at att.com/arbitration-information.) The arbitrator is bound by the terms of this Agreement. All issues are for the arbitrator to decide, except that issues relating to the scope and enforceability of the arbitration provision are for the court to decide. Unless AT&T and you agree otherwise, any arbitration hearings will take place in the county (or parish) of your billing address. If your claim is for $10,000 or less, we agree that you may choose whether the arbitration will be conducted solely on the basis of documents submitted to the arbitrator, through a telephonic hearing, or by an in-person hearing as established by the AAA Rules. If your claim exceeds $10,000, the right to a hearing will be determined by the

I urge you to vote NO on any form of the so called Climate Bill or anything containing Cap and Trade Together with the burgeoning DEFICIT and the tax increases over the past year and a half, this will have such a debilitating effect on the economy that we are almost certain to have a constitutional crisis. It is time to begin to think clearly and oppose Mr Obama, Mr Reid, and Ms. Pelosi. They are socialists if not Marxists and have in mind the destruction of the Republic.

Respectfully I ask you to give me some reason to support you

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine, and I'd like to test it just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-855 330-1239 (a toll-free number in the United States) When it's finished transmitting point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number Within a minute your fax should appear on the site Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to faxZero this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada Within a few minutes your fax machine should ring — hopefully it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

will reduce lost disk space due to slack, and will reduce defragmentation time on partitions containing more rarely-used data. (See below for much more on the issues involved in partitioning.) So instead, let's say you want to split up this drive as follows:

- One 8 GB primary partition for Windows and other operating system and program files.
- One 12 GB partition for data.
- One 16 GB partition for games.
- The rest of the disk in a 24 GB partition for large multimedia files, short-term backups and "future expansion."

I'm assuming no complicating factors here, just a simple example. To do this, you will first set up a primary DOS partition 8 GB in size. This is the first of your four partitions. You will then create an extended DOS partition that is 52 GB in size. This is the second partition on the hard disk. Within the extended DOS partition you will

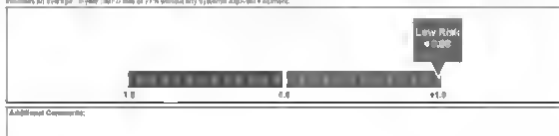
MammaPrint Result

Low Risk

[redacted] a result of the MammaPrint 70 gene expression profile. The MammaPrint result is calculated from a numerical index named [redacted] Low Risk. Patients with a MammaPrint Index > 0 are considered High Risk, while patients with an index ≤ 0 are considered Low Risk. For a given cancer stage, Low Risk patients have an average 10-year distant metastasis-free survival (DMFS) rate of 94% without any additional treatment, while High Risk patients have an average 5-year DMFS rate of 71% without any systemic adjuvant treatment.



Additional Comments:

Assay Description

[redacted] used MammaPrint classifiers of MammaPrint with fresh tissue for patients of all ages with invasive breast cancer who refuse tumor at [redacted] In order to expand access (CRFA) outside the U.S., patients may have acquired an additional clearance in compliance with [redacted] for fresh and formalin fixed paraffin-embedded (FFPE) tissue cancer tissue for patients with up to 7 positive lymph [redacted] Breast cancer patients. The test is performed using a microarray-based gene expression profile that was independently [redacted] of an 81 patient cohort. An unbiased, supervised analysis of the entire human genome - 25,000 genes, followed by a leave-one-out cross-validation procedure - yielded the 70 critical genes that distinguish patients as High Risk vs. Low Risk of metastasis. Therefore this MammaPrint result provided [redacted] prognostically validated, statistically significant, additive information to physicians to help them decide on treatment in early stage breast cancer patients.

Based on the analytical performance of MammaPrint, the precision of classifying a sample as High Risk or Low Risk is 99% for fresh and 97.7% for FFPE, and the repeatability of the microarrays used is 99% for fresh and 97.8% for FFPE. Furthermore, when a fresh sample's MammaPrint Index (MPI) falls within a pre-defined area within the classification cut-off between -0.0075 and +0.0075, the classification accuracy is more than 90%.

Patient was seen follow up for recent hospitalization. Presented with unstable angina and was shown to have severe disease of his proximal left anterior descending coronary artery (LAD) including the origin of a diagonal branch. That was successfully stented. Since that time he has done well he has had no chest pain and he is working out on a regular basis and working fulltime as well. His lipids in March showed a total cholesterol of 201, high-density lipoproteins (HDL) 34 and low density lipoproteins (LDL) 147. Interestingly enough that was on dietary modification. In January he had an low-density lipoproteins (LDL) that was 183 but his high-density lipoproteins (HDL) in January was also 71.

Medications include Flavot 75 daily, aspirin 325 daily, Lipitor 80 daily, Metoprolol 25 daily. Examination shows him to look well. Blood pressure today is 118/72, pulse is 56 and regular weight is 200.

IMPRESSION

Doing well. We are very interested by this marked change in lipid state based on his dietary modification. Since the dietary changes however he has added the 80 milligrams of Lipitor and we will be anxious to see where his low-density lipoproteins (LDL) lines up. Curiously his high-density lipoproteins (HDL) came tumbling down on his diet which included oatmeal everyday. The significance of that is unclear.

Assuming he remains clinically stable he will be stressed in September which will be the six month mark from his stenting. If that proves to be negative for ischemia then we will stop his beta blocker.

3. Using the phone cord supplied in the box with the HP All-in-One, connect one end to your telephone wall jack, then connect the other end to the port labeled 1-LINE on the back of the HP All-in-One.

   Note If you do not use the supplied cord to connect from the telephone wall jack to the HP All-in-One, you might not be able to fax successfully. This special phone cord is different from the phone cords you might already have in your home or office.

4. (Optional) If your answering machine does not have a built-in phone, for convenience you might want to connect a phone to the back of your answering machine at the "OUT" port.

   Note If your answering machine does not let you connect an external phone, you can purchase and use a parallel splitter (also known as a coupler) to connect both the answering machine and telephone to the HP All-in-One. You can use standard phone cords for these connections.

5. Turn on the Auto Answer setting.
6. Set your answering machine to answer after a low number of rings.
7. Change the Rings to Answer setting on the HP All-in-One to the maximum number of rings supported by your device. (The maximum number of rings varies by country/region.)
8. Run a fax test.

When the phone rings, your answering machine will answer after the number of rings you have set, and then play your recorded greeting. The HP All-in-One monitors the call during this time "listening" for fax tones. If incoming fax tones are detected, the HP All-in-One will emit fax reception tones and receive the fax. If there are no fax tones, the HP All-in-One stops monitoring the line and your answering machine can record a voice message.

Case J: Shared voice/fax line with computer dial-up modem and answering machine

If you receive both voice calls and fax calls at the same phone number, and you also have a computer dial-up modem and answering machine connected on this phone line, set up the HP All-in-One as described in this section.

Since your computer dial-up modem shares the phone line with the HP All-in-One, you will not be able to use both your modem and the HP All-in-One simultaneously. For example, you cannot use the HP All-in-One for faxing if you are using your computer dial-up modem to send an e-mail or access the Internet.

There are two different ways to set the HP All-in-One with your computer based on the number of phone ports on your computer. Before you begin, check your computer to see if it has one or two phone ports.

- If your computer has only one phone port, you will need to purchase a parallel splitter (also called a coupler), as shown below. (A parallel splitter has one RJ-11 port on the front and two RJ-11 ports on the back. Do not use a 2-line phone splitter, a serial

Selected FAQ

Q: I'm having trouble sending or receiving faxes. What should I do?

A: Try the following solutions:

- Make sure the cable is firmly connected to the product and the wall jack.
- Make sure paper is loaded correctly in your product.
- Make sure your product's Auto Answer mode is turned on so it receives faxes automatically. Check your product control panel to see if this mode is turned on.
- Check that the sum of connecting your telephone and fax to your product's LINE port is secure.
- Dial a fax number to test the connection. If you hear tones or static, the fax machine you dialed may not be answering.
- Verify that the telephone wall jack works by connecting a phone to the jack and making a call.
- If you connected your product to a DSL phone line, you must connect a DSL filter to the phone line. Contact your DSL provider for the necessary filter.
- If you connect your fax machine to the same telephone line as a computer modem, telephone answering machine, or telephone voice mail service, make sure that all of the devices are set up correctly to share the line. See your product's Basic Operation Guide for instructions.

Note: If your product is connected to a VoIP (Voice over Internet Protocol) phone service, you need to contact your ISP to obtain a dial tone for faxing. Even if you can hear a dial tone on the phone line, you cannot guarantee that fax transmission will work when using VoIP.

If you cannot send or receive faxes, contact Epson as described in your product documentation for assistance.

14. When the installation is complete, click Finish to close the installer.

    The `migrate.log` file is created during the migration. This file provides you with a log of the migration process and a list of the components that were migrated. Review the `migrate.log` file located in the default installation directory for a complete list and details of all components migrated.

15. Open the Avalanche Console and perform a Universal Deployment to re-establish communications with your distributed servers.

    Any deployed Mobile Device or Infrastructure Servers will be set to a dormant state and will not attempt to communicate with the devices or the Enterprise Server until a Universal Deployment occurs. To upgrade the servers to the new version, create and deploy new server packages. When you create Infrastructure Server packages, create the full deployment package, not the lightweight version.

NOTE: Wavelink strongly recommends using the Task Scheduler to uninstall and then redeploy any Infrastructure servers that are older than 5.0.

Once you migrate to Avalanche 5.3, you may need to obtain new licensing. Contact Wavelink Customer Service for more information.

MY DAD IS AN EXOTIC DANCER

One day a fourth grade teacher asked the children what their fathers did for a living
All the typical answers came up, fireman, mechanic, businessman, salesman. . and so forth
However, Justin was being uncharactenstically quiet, so when the teacher prodded him about his father
He replied, "My father's an exotic dancer in a gay bar and takes off all his clothes to music in front of other men and they put money in his underwear Sometimes, he'll go home with some guy and stay with him all night for money."
The teacher, obviously shaken by this statement, hurriedly set the other children to work on some exercises and took Justin aside to ask him, "Is that really true about your father?"
"No," the boy said, "He works for the Democratic National Committee and is helping to get Obama re-elected, but it's just too embarrassing to say that in front of everybody "

OROCOS RTT-Lua, an Execution Environment for building Real-time Robotic Domain Specific Languages

Markus Klotzbücher Peter Soetens and Herman Bruyninckx

Abstract— From the beginning the OROCOS Real-Time Toolkit has offered support for dynamically loadable, hard real-time state scripting and Mini machines. Users often consider these mechanisms as key features because they provide the ability to perform dynamic and even interactive changes to the system by means of a language which is more simpler and more robust than the C++ language of the host system. In spite of this some shortcomings of the current implementation have become evident. Firstly there is a need for a more expressive state machine model which adheres to well-known semantics. Secondly the cost to maintain and evolve an own scripting and state machine language is high. As last portability of scripts and state machines is limited as the scripting implementation is inherently tied to the RTT framework. This paper describes our approach to overcome these issues by creating a Lua based execution environment for constructing real-time safe robotic domain specific languages. We illustrate this in practice by describing a hierarchical Statechart model used for coordination in the robotics domain.

Index Terms— domain-specific-language, real-time, coordination, garbage collection, component-based

I. Introduction

Scripting languages are commonly lightweight dynamic languages which are embedded in larger systems in order to extend them. These systems are often optimized for speed or time latency and thus developed in compiled languages such as C or C++. The extension language in contrast aims at offering a dynamic interface to the functionality offered by the base system. Extension languages have been in use for decades as for example Emacs Lisp [1], TCL [2] or variants of Scheme [3].

The OROCOS Real Time Toolkit (RTT) is a C++ framework for constructing complex component based robotic systems [4]. From the beginning a scripting language and a state machine implementation were provided which allow to implement the behavior of a component without the need to recompile. More importantly these languages are hard real-time safe which means execution takes place in a temporally deterministic fashion. This is achieved by pre-allocating all necessary data such as variables and functions at load-time. Hence during execution the potentially non-deterministic operations of allocating and reorganizing of memory can be avoided.

The research leading to these results has received funding from the European Community's Seventh Framework Programme (FP7/2007-2013) under grant agreement no FP7-ICT-231940-BRICS (Best Practice in Robotics).

M Klotzbücher and H Bruyninckx are with the Department of Mechanical Engineering, Katholieke Universiteit Leuven, Belgium P Soetens is now with IntermoDalles, Belgium. Corresponding author: markus.klotzbuecher@mech.kuleuven.be

The RTT state machine language allows composition of simple non-hierarchical state machines which can be loaded into components at runtime. This is a major advantage compared to more static model driven engineering approaches like MDA [5] and xUML [6] which typically require a model transformation and/or compilation step before being executable.

With the growing complexity of robotic systems the need for a more expressive hierarchical state machine model has become clear. The obvious solution would be to extend the existing implementation of the RTT. This however would not solve the problem of portability of state machines and scripts. Additionally this approach would further increase the complexity and consequently cost of maintenance of the current implementation.

An alternative approach is to implement the required hierarchical state machines as an internal domain specific language (DSL). This technique is an efficient way to implement new programming languages by constructing them on top of an existing host language [7]. Thus has the advantage of avoiding the development of a new syntax and an associated parser. But more importantly internal DSL permit the construction of languages which can be directly executed as interpreted scripts in the host language without the need for additional transformation steps.

The current RTT scripting language does not easily permit construction of internal DSL. Reasons for this are the static typing model, the absence of a Lisp like eval function and the lack of a generic compound type. These language constructs are missing because of the complexity involved in implementing these in combination with the approach of rigorous pre-allocation, which in turn is needed for hard real time safe execution.

In order to overcome these issues the Lua [8] extension language was chosen as a basis for a new RTT scripting language as it offers the following

a) custom memory allocation. Lua provides a mechanism to use a custom memory allocator instead of the standard OS functions. As described later this is crucial for use in a hard real-time context.

b) real-time garbage collector. Lua is widely used in soft real-time environments such as game engines and in that area provides a precisely controllable incremental garbage collector. For instance it is possible to tune how aggressively memory is collected or to stop and restart the collector as desired

c) suitable for building internal DSL. Lua is suitable for building internal domain specific languages as it is

This partition may then be subdivided into multiple logical partitions. This is the way that two or more logical DOS volumes can be placed on a single hard disk

Alright I realize that this is somewhat confusing, so let's take a look at some examples of systems, to show you how this scheme is used

- Single Partition Windows PC - Many PCs have all of their disk space made into a single partition and use one of the FAT file systems. Such a machine would have just a single FAT primary partition on it, and nothing else. The other three slots for partitions in the disk would be empty
- Multiple Partition Windows PC - To use more than one partition in a DOS/Windows system two partitions are used. One is a regular DOS primary partition (with it becomes the "C:" drive). The other is the extended DOS partition. Within the extended DOS partition all the other logical devices are created. On a drive with four logical drive letters would have the first (C:) be the active primary partition and the other three (D:, E: and F:) would be logicals within the extended DOS partition
- Multiple Operating System PC - A system with multiple operating systems could use one primary partition for each of up to four different file systems.

If you want you can also combine multiple partitions with multiple operating systems. For example, you could have a primary DOS partition an extended DOS partition, and a Linux partition. Such setups are far less common than the single examples above.

The extended DOS partition causes most of the confusion in the part of those setting up new DOS/Windows PCs. It really functions as a "container" that holds all DOS partitions except for the first (primary) volume. The reason that this structure was used is that the original design, with its limit of four partitions, was too restrictive. The extended DOS partition system all owes you to have up to 24 disk partitions in a single system without violating compatibility with older hardware and software designed based on the original four-partition limit. Of course, nobody would use that many partitions on a system in most cases because it would be a data organization nightmare! :)

Within the extended DOS partition the logical drives are stored in a linked structure. The extended partition's information is not stored in the master partition table. Once the extended partition is one of the four partitions stored in the master boot record, it contains a link to an extended partition table that describes the first logical partition for the disk. That table contains information about that first logical partition, and a link to the next extended partition table which describes the second logical partition on the disk, and so on. The extended partition tables are linked in a chain starting from the master partition table.

In terms of how the disk is used, there are only two main differences between a primary and a logical partition or volume. The first is that a primary partition can be set as active, while a logical cannot. The second is that primary and logical volumes (C:, D: etc.) differ only so primary and logical volumes.

Here's an example to hopefully make all of this a bit more clear. Let's suppose you are setting up a new system and starting with an empty 60 GB hard disk. You could create a single 60 GB partition which would be a primary DOS partition. However in many cases dividing up such a large disk will make it easier to manage the space

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

You bought a new fax machine, and it's time to test it out to make sure it works. "How can I do that?"

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. There's how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one page fax to 1 855 330-1239 (a toll free number in the United States.) When the handshaking transmitting, point your web browser to Fax.Toys. This is a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero, this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine: send a one-page fax to 1-855-330-1239 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to FAX TOY — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine: point your web browser to FAXZERO. This site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

ADULT GENERAL PASSPORT APPLICATION

for Canadians 16 years of age or over applying in Canada or from the USA

To obtain the most recent version of this form, visit our website at www.passeportcanada.gc.ca.

Protection of Information

All personal information provided on this application form is protected and used in accordance with the provisions of the Privacy Act (Personal Information Bank No. FAI PPU 030). Personal information is collected by Passport Canada under the Canadian Passport Order to: date or re the applicant's current and ongoing entitlement to a Canadian passport to fulfill other passport services and to provide information to the Canadian Affairs Bureau of Foreign Affairs and International Trade Canada in the event that the applicant requires assistance while travelling abroad. The guarantor's information is also checked to determine whether the passport applicant is a legitimate child to be issued a passport. All information provided is subject to various verifications and security queries.

To strengthen the security of the Canadian passport, Passport Canada uses facial recognition technology to convert the applicant's photo into a biometric template for comparison with the Passport Canada database of photos. The photo is then incorporated into the passport as a digital image. Biometric templates are retained for a maximum of 12 years.

Passport Canada uses the services of third parties to receive passport application forms submitted in person. Third parties ensure that all personal information is protected and used in accordance with the provisions of the Privacy Act.

Passport Canada may contact the applicant/passport holder to verify the status of their passport services.

Helpful Tips for Completing Your Passport Application

- Complete and sign all three (3) pages of the application. FAILURE TO COMPLETE ALL THE REQUIRED SECTIONS OF THIS FORM WILL RESULT IN YOUR APPLICATION BEING REJECTED.
  You must sign your usual signature in the three (3) signature boxes provided (one a signature per page).
- Sign within the white box (Section 1)
  Your signature must not touch the shaded border in the signature box on Section 1. The signature will appear in the passport. If the signature touches the border, it may be rejected and a new signature will be required which will cause delays.
- Photos (Section G)
  Photos must have a white or light-coloured background and be free of shadows and glare on the face and background. You must have a neutral expression. Your photographer can consult the specifications at www.passeportcanada.gc.ca.
- Proof of Canadian citizenship (required document)
  Your original birth certificate or citizenship certificate/card (not a copy) must be submitted. Commemorative certificates are not accepted. If you were born in the Province of Quebec, only birth certificates and copy of act of birth issued on or after January 1, 1994 by the Directeur de l'état civil are accepted.
- Complete citizenship information (Section 4A)
  All applicants must complete the question "Did you acquire citizenship of one of your countries before JANUARY 1, 1947?"
- Fee and credit card information
  Submit the correct fee in Canadian funds only. We accept (but do not limit ourselves) to certified cheques or money order and international money order. If you are paying by credit card, fill out, or submit with your application, Credit Card Information, Section E. Credit Card Information.
- Guarantor requirements (Section 2)
  Choose a guarantor who meets the criteria as listed on the Who Can Be a Guarantor sheet. You must not replace your passport application with one submitted by your guarantor. Ensure your guarantor completes all applicable sections of Section 2 on the application form. Your guarantor must also sign the back of one (1) photo and if applicable, a copy (both sides) of each document to support your identity.
- Provide documents to support you identity (ID) (Section 4)
  Provide at least one valid government-issued ID with your name and signature. If you are submitting a copy, both sides must be submitted and signed and dated by your guarantor.
- References (Section 8)
  Provide two (2) references who are not your guarantor or a relative. Friends, co-workers and neighbours may be used as references provided they have known you for at least two (2) years.
- Submit any valid passport or travel document
  If your passport is still valid when you apply, you must submit it. Any travel documents issued in the last five (5) years must be submitted. If you passport is still valid or expires in no more than one year, you may be eligible for the Simplified Renewal Application Process.
- Using your spousal surname (Section 1 and 4)
  If you want the passport issued in your spousal surname (last name), you must submit documentary information about your marriage, including your marriage.
- Additional Personal Information (Section 7)
  Addresses
  Indicate "Same as current address" if your address has not changed in the last two (2) years.
  Occupation
  State your occupations over the last two (2) years. If you were a homemaker, as retired in the last two (2) years, indicate this on the form.
  Mother's Maiden Name
  Indicate your mother's surname (last name) when she was born.
- Children's application
  If applying for a child under 16 years of age, you must use the "Child General Passport Application" form PPTC 155 and it must be submitted with the application. If you are unable to submit the form for legal, medical or mobility reasons, a letter explaining why must be submitted.

To avoid delays in issuing the passport use the Requirements Checklist, Section A of the General Information and ensure your application is complete.

CancerTYPE ID

Molecular Classification with CancerTYPE ID

FFPE Tissue Processing & Tumor Enrichment

- CancerTYPE ID requires as few as 300-500 viable tumor cells and is compatible with limited biopsy specimens such as FNAs, cytological specimens, and small core needle biopsies.
- CancerTYPE ID routinely employs laser guided microdissection to enrich for tumor specimen.

Gene Expression Profiling

- CancerTYPE ID uses a robust real-time RT-PCR platform to detect very small differences in gene expression.
- CancerTYPE ID measures and integrates the gene expression of 92 genes, 5 normalization genes and 67 lineage determinant and tissue specific genes, most of which are not routinely measured by IHC.

Reference Tumor Database & Algorithm

- CancerTYPE ID uses a computational algorithm to predict the patient's tumor type based on the degree of similarity of the sample's 92-gene expression profile to a reference database of gene expression profiles. The reference database contains gene expression information from over 2 000 tumor specimens of known histogenesis, and representing ~95% of all solid tumors based on incidence.
- The CancerTYPE ID algorithm provides a predicted main type and any sub-types in rank-order by relative probabilities, which are based on the tumor's gene expression similarity to tumors of these types in the reference database.

Molecular Classification

- CancerTYPE ID classifies 28 tumor types and 50 tumor subtypes.
- In an independent validation of 2% blinded samples, the molecular diagnosis was 87% accurate for most tumor type and 82% accurate for tumor subtype.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just bought a new fax machine and it has a test it function, but it doesn't work. I've also tried that!

It's unstable, you want to test your fax machine for sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine send a two-page fax to 1-855-330-1239 (a toll free number in the United States). When the initial transmitting page appears on your web browser to FaxZero, it's a fax web site that displays whatever is faxed. That number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnails to see a larger version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine point your web browser to FaxZero, this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine, and I'd like to test it, just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both:

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-855-330-1238 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever's faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero. This site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

Rogue security software

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Rogue security software is a form of computer malware that deceives or misleads users into paying for the fake or simulated removal of malware. Rogue security software, in recent years, has become a growing and serious security threat in desktop computing.[1]

Propagation

Rogue security software mainly relies on social engineering in order to defeat the security built into modern operating system and browser software and install itself onto victims' computers.[1]

Most have a Trojan horse component, which users are misled into installing. The Trojan may be disguised as

- A browser plug-in or extension
- An image, screensaver or archive file attached to an e-mail message
- Multimedia codec required to play a certain video clip
- Software shared on peer-to-peer networks[2]
- A free online malware scanning service[3]

Some rogue security software, however, propagate onto users' computers as drive-by downloads which exploit security vulnerabilities in web browsers or e-mail clients to install themselves without any manual interaction.[2]

Operation

Once installed, the rogue security software may then attempt to entice the user into purchasing a service or additional software by:

- Alerting the user with the fake or simulated detection of malware or pornography.[4]
- Displaying an animation simulating a fake system crash and reboot.[1]
- Selectively disabling parts of the system to prevent the user from uninstalling them. Some may also prevent anti-malware programs from running, disable automatic system software updates and block access to websites of anti-malware vendors.
- Installing actual malware onto the computer, then alerting the user after "detecting" them. This method is less common as the malware is likely to be detected by legitimate anti-malware programs.

- Presenting offers to fix urgent performance problems or perform essential housekeeping on the computer.[4]
- Scaring the user by presenting authentic-looking pop-up warnings and security alerts, which may mimic actual system notices.[5] These are intended to leverage the trust of the user in vendors of legitimate security software.[1]

Song facts

The song was originally recorded in 1979 by Sister Sledge. Four sisters whose last name was Sledge. The writers of the song (Bernard Edwards and Nile Rodgers) got the idea for the song from seeing how well the four sisters got along with each other.

We are family was a worldwide hit and became an anthem for women's groups, sports teams, and political parties.

Good troubleshooting is a process that combines knowledge, experience, and intuition. As you practice on the job and support in a work environment, you will start to see patterns develop in the types of problems that you quickly solve in a variety of problems.

Regardless of your current troubleshooting abilities, you will benefit by following a systematic approach to problem solving. The following process has been effective in a variety of situations:

1. Identify the symptoms and potential causes. Ask the user to describe the problem, check for error messages, and recreate the problem. Resist the urge to start fixing things at this point.
2. Identify the affected area and determine how large the problem is. For example, does the error affect a workstation, would it likely be very different than does it on entire network segment.
3. Establish what has changed. Most often, problems are caused by new hardware or software changes to the configuration. If necessary, ask questions to discover what might have changed that could have caused the problem.
4. Review the list of potential causes and select the most probable cause. Look for common errors or problems that can be fixed quickly.
5. Evaluate the problem. If it is beyond your ability to fix or your scope of managerial authority. For example, the problem might be in a router configuration that you are not authorized to correct. When forwarding the problem on to someone else, be sure to document the nature of the problem, the actions you have already taken, and the symptoms that lead you to believe the problem is outside of your area of responsibility.
6. Create an action plan and ensure that you solve all parts of the proposed plan. Your plan might include downtime for the user or equipment that need approval before proceeding. In addition, you might need to involve other users or support groups for a period of time. Identifying the effects ahead of time helps you put measures in place to eliminate or reduce any potential negative consequences.
7. When side effects have been weighed against the fix and all concerns have been addressed, fix the problem. If necessary, implement additional steps to correct the problem if your first solution did not work. After you think you have resolved the problem, test the result.
8. Identify the results and effects of the solution. Make sure that the solution has fully fixed the problem and has not caused any other problems.
9. Document the problem and solution. In the future, you can check your documentation to see what has changed or to help you implement the solution to common problems.

Remember, however, that troubleshooting is a process of both deduction and intuition. Experience will show you when deviating from this process can save both time and effort.

He wasn't there again today
Oh how I wish he'd go away

When I came home last night at three
The man was waiting there for me
But when I looked around the hall
I couldn't see him there at all!
Go away, go away, don't you come back any more!
Go away, go away, and please don't slam the door

Last night I saw upon the stair
A little man who wasn't there
He wasn't there again today
Oh how I wish he'd go away

for your Home

A new era begins in your garage. Save money every time you charge your plug-in electric car with two options that let you choose what time to charge your car and how much to pay. Plus, grab a rebate of up to $500 on installing the charging station.

You'll wake up fully charged and get off to a great start—now and for many mornings to come

ELECTRIC VEHICLE (EV) PROGRAMS

Dakota Electric offers two voluntary options for charging your EV at home. The storage program offers the lowest price while the time-of-use program provides the most flexibility. Additional options for your EV that are not off peak outlets are prohibited when participating in this program.

Dakota Electric also offers a rebate of up to $500 to cover the cost of installing a charger on either program.

Off-peak storage rate†

Dakota Electric's storage rate offers members the lowest-cost off peak electricity for charging an EV but the hours available are the most restrictive. Electricity for charging your EV is available only during off-peak hours. Power will not be supplied outside of the off peak hours and the charger must be hardwired into your circuit panel.

Time-of-use rate†

A charger installed on Dakota Electric's time-of-use rate will always receive electricity so you can charge your vehicle whenever needed. A special meter is installed that allows the rate to fluctuate based on the time of day you charge your EV.

*Holidays include New Years Day, Memorial Day, Independence Day, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas Day

†Additional cost for taxes and the Resource and Tax Adjustment (RTA) applies.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine and I'd like to test it just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-855-330-1239 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero. this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

Ethanol bill would help Midwest, cost everyone else

By Kinston Editorial, May 01, 2002

Raise your hand if you want to see gasoline prices jump 10 percent. That's what is predicted to happen if the Senate version of a federal energy bill becomes law.

The bill would mandate tripling ethanol use in the whole country to 5 billion gallons by 2012, according to a report by Sen. Dianne Feinstein. The bill mainly would benefit the Midwestern states, where 98 percent of ethanol is produced, at the expense of everybody else. One company, agribusiness leader Archer Daniels Midland, would receive 41 percent of the business.

Ethanol is believed to mitigate air pollution by reducing carbon monoxide but it can also impair the gas mileage of volume of fuel you need." He said official estimates put the reduction in gas mileage at 1 percent to 3 percent; he estimated ethanol will increase fuel consumption up to 10 percent.

He also said cars aren't engineered to run ethanol, which is hydroscopic, meaning it has an "extreme ability to absorb moisture." So cars will wear out faster. And when the anti-pollution parts of a car such as the oxygen sensor wear out, the car starts polluting more.

The best way to reduce pollution is to make it as easy as possible to buy new cars with high emissions standards and to repair or junk older cars that are polluters. Increasing the cost of driving

Les Miserables* I Dreamed a Dream Lyrics

There was a time when men were kind
And their voices were soft
And their words were inviting
There was a time, when love was blind
And the world was a song
And the song was exciting
There was a time it all went wrong

I dreamed a dream in time gone by
When hope was high and life worth living
I dreamed that love would never die
I dreamed that God would be forgiving

Then I was young and unafraid
And dreams were made and used and wasted
There was no reason to be good
[Find more Lyrics on www.stellyrics.org/fyi]
No song unsung, no wine untasted

But the tigers come at night
With their voices soft as thunder
As they tear your hope apart
As they turn your dream to shame

He slept a summer by my side
He filled my days with endless wonder
He took my childhood in his stride
But he was gone when autumn came

And still I dream he'll come to me
That we will live the years together
But there are dreams that cannot be
And there are storms we cannot weather

I had a dream my life would be
So different from this hell I'm living
So different now from what it seemed
Now life has killed the dream I dreamed

Employee Notification

You must notify all eligible employees either before the employer's 60-day election period (described previously) that they can make or change salary reduction elections. In this notification, you must indicate whether you will provide:

1. A matching contribution equal to your employees' salary reduction contributions up to a limit of 3% of their compensation,

2. A matching contribution equal to your employees' salary reduction contributions subject to a percentage limit that is between 1 and 3% of their compensation or

3. A nonelective contribution equal to 2% of you employees compensation.

You can use the Model Notification to Eligible Employees to satisfy these employee notification requirements for the SIMPLE IRA plan. A Summary Description must also be provided to eligible employees at this time. This summary description requirement may be satisfied by providing a completed copy of pages 1 and 2 of Form 5305-SIMPLE (including the Article VI Frequently Asked Questions and Answers from the SIMPLE IRAs established under the SIMPLE IRA plan).

If you fail to provide the employee notified on (including the summary description) described above you will be liable for a penalty of $50 per day until the notification is provided. If you can show that the failure was due to reasonable cause the penalty will not be imposed.

Reporting Requirements

You are not required to file any annual information returns for your SIMPLE IRA plan such as Form 5500 Annual Return/Report of Employee Benefit Plan or Form 5500-EZ, Annual Return of One-Participant (Owners and Their Spouses) Retirement Plan. However you must report to the IRS which eligible employees are active participants in the SIMPLE IRA plan and the amount of your employees' salary reduction contributions to the SIMPLE IRA plan on Form W-2. These contributions are subject to social security, Medicare railroad retirement, and federal unemployment tax.

Deducting Contributions

Contributions to the SIMPLE IRA plan are deductible in your tax year containing the end of the calendar year for which the contributions are made.

Contributions will be treated as made for a particular tax year if they are made for that year and are made by the due date (including extensions) for your income tax return for that year.

Choosing the Designated Financial Institution

As indicated in Article V, item 4, a designated financial institution is a trustee, custodian or insurance company that issues annuity contracts for the SIMPLE IRA plan that would receive all contributions made pursuant to the SIMPLE IRA plan and all transfers of contributions to the SIMPLE IRA of each eligible employee.

Only certain financial institutions, such as banks, savings and loan associations, insured credit unions, insurance companies (that issue annuity contracts) or IRS-approved nonbank trustees may serve as a designated financial institution under a SIMPLE IRA plan.

You are not required to choose a designated financial institution for your SIMPLE IRA plan. However, if you do not want to choose a designated financial institution you cannot use this form (see When To Use Form 5305-SIMPLE earlier).

Instructions for the Designated Financial Institution

Completing Form 5305-SIMPLE

By completing Article VII you have agreed to be the designated financial institution for this SIMPLE IRA plan. You agree to maintain IRAs on behalf of all individuals receiving contributions under the plan and to receive all contributions made pursuant to the plan and to deposit those contributions to the SIMPLE IRAs of each eligible employee as soon as practicable. You also agree that upon the request of a participant you will transfer the participant's balance in a SIMPLE IRA to another IRA without cost or penalty to the participant.

Summary Description

Each year the SIMPLE IRA plan is in effect you must provide the employer the information described in section 408(l)(2)(B). This requirement may be satisfied by providing the employer a current copy of Form 5305-SIMPLE (including instructions) together with your procedures for withdrawals and transfers from the SIMPLE IRAs established under this SIMPLE IRA plan. The summary description must be received by the employer in sufficient time to comply with the employee notification requirements on this page.

If you fail to provide the summary description described above, you will be liable for a penalty of $50 per day until the notification is provided. If you can show that the failure was due to reasonable cause the penalty will not be imposed.

Paperwork Reduction Act Notice. You are not required to provide the information requested on a form that is subject to the Paperwork Reduction Act unless the form displays a valid OMB control number. Books or records relating to a form or its instructions must be retained as long as their contents may become material in the administration of any Internal Revenue law. Generally tax returns and return information are confidential, as required by section 6103.

The time needed to complete this form will vary depending on individual circumstances. The estimated average times is:

Recordkeeping	3 hr., 36 min
Learning about the law or the form	2 hr. 26 min
Preparing the form	47 min

If you have comments concerning the accuracy of these time estimates or suggestions for making this form simpler, we would be happy to hear from you. You can write to the Internal Revenue Service, Tax Products Coordinating Committee SE:W:CAR:MP:T:M:S, 1111 Constitution Ave. NW, IR-6526, Washington, DC 20224. Do not send this form to this address. Instead, keep it for your records.

Chapter 11.

Imperfect Competition

In most industrialized countries there are few examples of Perfect Competition or Monopoly Typically there are firms that operate in Imperfectly Competitive market structure

Two types.

1 Monopolistic Competition (2/3 of all Canadian output is produced by firms of this type)

2 Oligopoly

In PC market – firm is price taker , P = MC, profit = 0 in LR

In M market – firm sets the price, P > MC, profit > 0 is possible in LR.

Imperfect Competition – several large firms, that have market power, as many smaller firms, with some market power over their prices

Imperfectly Competitive Markets: Description

a.) Most firms sell differentiated products. Differentiated products are similar, but different enough to be sold at different prices. Ex Tide versus Ivory Snow

b.) Since products are not Homogeneous, firms can set the price, but it can not be too high or too low

Because similar products are being sold in the market, D-curves are very elastic!

Firms often set their prices in Imperfectly Competitive market (in PC firms can not do that)

Administered Prices – are set by the firms rather than the market.

But: market forces still count (shape of D-curve) Demand curve is negatively sloped, therefore firm must decide the price and level of output they want to sell according to D-curve.

Firms have some market power! (to influence the price)

Price setting – is a decision made by the firm according to expectations what could be sold at each price

Po-Joke #24

A nurse is giving a young medical intern a tour of the hospital.

The intern approaches one bedridden patient and asks, "Why are you here?" The patient replies, "Wee sleekit cowerin' timorous beastie/O what a panic is in thy breastie."

The intern moves on to the next bed and asks the same question. "Why are you here?" The patient answers, "O my luv is like a red, red, rose that's newly sprung in June."

The intern moves on to a third bed and asks again, "Why are you here" to which the third patient replies, "The best laid plans of mice and men, may often gang awry."

At this the intern turns to the nurse and asks "What ward is this anyway?" And the nurse answers "It's the Burns Unit."

non applications than in pattern recognition. We are able to use a relatively simple non orthogonal prefilter called a quasi interpolation prefilter that maps the data to basis coefficients in V_0 so that the combination of basis functions interpolates data sampled from polynomials up to the approximation order of the basis and nearly close to interpolating non polynomial data.

2 Useful Bases

There are a number of orthogonal multiwavelet bases that have been developed. (See [7] and [10] for some other examples.) As previously mentioned the ones presented here have the advantage of being easily applied to bounded data, but they also have another advantage. The following bases all generate spaces that contain spline spaces that is, piecewise polynomial spaces over integer knots that meet certain match up conditions at the integers. We use the notation $S_k^r(Z)$ to indicate the spline space of polynomials of degree k that have equal r^{th} derivatives at integer knots, where the 0^{th} derivative is understood to be the function value. Thus, while we will refer to the approximation order k of the following bases it is important to realize that the V_0 space generated by the bases will also contain piecewise polynomials of degree $k-1$ that are at most continuous at integer values or in the case of the last basis have one derivative at integer values.

2.1 GHM Basis

The GHM basis first appeared in [3] and was reconstructed from a macroelement perspective in [4] and are illustrated in Figure 10. This scaling vector $\Phi = (\phi_1\ \phi_2)^T$ has approximation order 2 but the V_0 space that it generates also includes the spline space $\mathcal{S}_1^0(Z)$

The scaling vector Φ satisfies equation (3) with the following matrix coefficients:

$$c_{-2} = \begin{bmatrix} \frac{1}{20} & -\frac{3}{20} \\ \frac{3}{20} & \frac{1}{20} \end{bmatrix} \qquad c_{-1} = \begin{bmatrix} \frac{3\sqrt{2}}{20} & \frac{9}{20} \\ \frac{9}{20} & \frac{3\sqrt{2}}{20} \end{bmatrix}$$

$$c_0 = \begin{bmatrix} \frac{\sqrt{2}}{2} & \frac{9}{20} \\ 0 & \frac{3\sqrt{2}}{20} \end{bmatrix} \qquad c_1 = \begin{bmatrix} -\frac{3\sqrt{2}}{20} & -\frac{1}{20} \\ \frac{1}{2} & \frac{3\sqrt{2}}{20} \end{bmatrix}$$

The function values needed to interpolate data are otherwise develop prefilters are

$$\phi_1(-1) = \phi_1(1) = \phi_2(0) = \phi_2(1) = 0$$

Orthonormal basis elements for the left and right boundaries of a data set are constructed by keeping the right and left half of ϕ_1 respectively and normalizing that is,

$$\phi_L^0 = \sqrt{2}\,\phi_1\chi_{[0,1]} \text{ and } \phi_R^0 = \sqrt{2}\,\phi_1\chi_{-1,0]}$$

respectively. These decomposition filters reflect the normalization in all but the entries corresponding to dilated versions of these functions.

The multiwavelet $\Psi = (\psi_1\ \psi_2)^T$ associated with the GHM scaling vector is illustrated in Figure 11 and satisfies the equation (3) with the following matrix coefficients

$$d_{-2} = \begin{bmatrix} \frac{1}{20} & \frac{3}{20} \\ \frac{3}{20} & -\frac{1}{20} \end{bmatrix} \qquad d_{-1} = \begin{bmatrix} \frac{3\sqrt{2}}{20} & -\frac{9}{20} \\ \frac{9}{20} & -\frac{3\sqrt{2}}{20} \end{bmatrix}$$

$$d_0 = \begin{bmatrix} \frac{\sqrt{2}}{2} & -\frac{9}{20} \\ 0 & \frac{3\sqrt{2}}{20} \end{bmatrix} \qquad d_1 = \begin{bmatrix} \frac{1\sqrt{2}}{20} & \frac{1}{20} \\ \frac{1}{2} & -\frac{3\sqrt{2}}{20} \end{bmatrix}$$

Only truncated and normalized versions of the symmetric ψ_1 are needed at the boundaries,

$$\psi_L^0 = \sqrt{2}\,\psi_1\chi_{[0,1]} \text{ and } \psi_R^0 = \sqrt{2}\,\psi_1\chi_{[-1,0]}$$

1. Mount the camera to a sturdy tripod
2. Position a reference target for the camera to focus on. The reference target should have sufficient contrast for the AF system to read. Should be flat and parallel to the camera's focal plane, and should be centered with respect to the picture area
3. Print out either the Siligent Size Focus Chart or the Focus Test Chart on regular letter size paper. You can print it on a laser printer or inkjet (doesn't really matter). Make sure to print on regular paper - not on thick or glossy, like photo paper.
4. Scotch tape or some other adhesive material to keep the focus chart on the wall
5. Lighting should be bright and even
6. Camera-to-subject distance should be no less than 50 times the focal length of the lens. For a 50mm lens, that would be at least 2.5 meters or approximately 8.2 feet.
7. Set the lens for AF and the camera for One-Shot AF, and manually select the center focusing point
8. Shoot at the maximum aperture of the lens (in manual mode or aperture priority) AE, and adjust the exposure level if necessary to achieve an accurate exposure of the reference target. Use a low ISO setting to reduce noise
9. If the lens has an image stabilizer, shut it off
10. Use a remote switch and/or the camera's self timer to release the shutter. Use a mirror lock as well
11. Take three sets of images at micro-adjustment settings of -5 and +5 for three consecutive images, -5, three consecutive images at 0, and three consecutive images at +5. Then take a live view image for comparison
12. Examine the resulting images on your computer monitor at 100% pixel magnification and compare each image to the live view image
13. Take additional sets of test images at different micro-adjustment settings if necessary until the sharpest image is achieved and most closely matches the live view image
14. Save the corresponding micro-adjustment settings in the camera

Here are a few additional precautions to observe:

• Do not attempt to autofocus on an angled chart, because doing so will degrade the consistency of the camera's focusing measurement. Keep in mind that the camera's AF sensor is comprised of multiple pairs of linear pixel arrays. If you attempt to autofocus on a single line in an angled focusing chart, only a few pixels from each active pixel array will "see" the target. Ideally, the contrast in the reference target should cover the entire area of the camera's center focusing point, and the reference target should be perfectly parallel to the camera's focal plane.

• For best results, manually set the focus on the lens to infinity for every exposure before allowing the camera to autofocus the reference target.

• Expect some minor variations in focusing accuracy within each set of three test images, even though they were all taken at the same micro-adjustment setting. This is completely normal, and is due to the coarseness of the camera's AF system.

• Expect smaller micro-adjustment settings to have a greater effect with telephoto lenses, and vice versa for wide-angle lenses.

• If you are attempting to set micro-adjustments for a zoom lens, it is important to realize that the camera's setting may only be accurate for the focal length setting you test. The instruction book suggests testing at the longest focal length of the lens, but you may find it more efficient to choose the focal length you use most often.

• Some cameras and some zoom lenses may require more sophisticated calibration than the in-camera AF micro-adjustment settings can provide. In such cases, it may be necessary to have calibration performed at a Factory Service Center.

The Force Between Electric Currents 25

Although magnets appear to have poles that attract or repel other poles in reality no magnetic poles are found to exist in the sense that electric charges do. What, then, is the source of the magnetic field if there are no poles or "magnetic charges" to fill this role? Magnetic fields result from the motion of electric charges that is, from electric currents. Permanent magnets produce magnetic fields because the electrons going around in their orbits in the atoms of the material constitute tiny loops of electric current, each of which is a magnetic field source. In materials like iron, nickel, and cobalt, not only will each par atom act magnetic are made it is possible to line up the atoms so that their fields are enhanced and add up to the large fields found around such magnets. This process is called magnetization, and the atoms will remain lined up in permanent magnets provided the temperature is not high enough for the resulting random thermal motion to upset the arrangement (the "Curie temperature").

The most elementary source of a magnetic field is a long, straight wire carrying an electric current. The magnetic lines of force due to such a current are simply concentric circles centered on the wire, as shown in Fig. 25 1 In addition because there are no magnetic-pole sources of the magnetic field, magnetic forces are not properly described as the action of a magnetic field on a pole. Instead, a force is exerted by a magnetic field on a moving electric charge, that is on an electric current. Thus, in describing magnetic fields and forces..we consider only moving electric charges and do not think in terms of poles at all In particular, when an electric charge moves in a magnetic field, it feels a force in a direction perpendicular both to the direction of the field lines (magnetic lines of force) and to the direction of motion Clearly the charge will feel no force if it moves parallel to the field lines, and the force it feels will increase from zero to a maximum as the direction of motion is changed from parallel to perpendicular to these lines. In Fig. 25 1 if a second wire is laid parallel to the one shown, a current in it will be perpendicular to the field and a force pushing it toward or away from the first wire (depending on the current directions) will result. This is the most fundamental arrangement possible for the study of magnetic forces. The force law between parallel current-carrying wires may be regarded as the fundamental law of magnetostatics, just as Coulomb s law is regarded as the fundamental law of electrostatics The purpose of the present experiment is to study this law

THEORY

The magnetic field of a long, straight wire carrying current I is denoted as shown in Fig. 25 1 and has the value

$$B = \frac{\mu_0 I}{2\pi r} = 2 \times 10^{-7} \frac{I}{r} \qquad (25\ 1)$$

where B is the magnetic field strength in teslas I is the current in amperes, r is the perpendicular distance in meters from the wire to the point where B is being evaluated, and μ_0 is a constant called the permeability of free space and has the value $4\pi \times 10^{-7}$ Wb/A .m Notice that for the electromagnetic work in this experiment, MKS (SI) units must be strictly adhered to. Therefore, r in Equation 25 1 must be expressed in meters even though it will often be so small that the meters will not be the most convenient unit to use.

If a long straight wire carrying current I is in a magnetic field of strength B, the force on a length L of the wire is given by

$$F = BI'L \sin\theta \qquad (25.2)$$

where F is the force in newtons, B is the field strength in teslas, I' is the current in amperes L is the length in meters of the wire on which force F is exerted, and θ is the angle between the directions of the current and the field. The force is perpendicular to those two directions, but its sense remains to be determined. This is most easily done with the aid of Fig. 25.2, which shows the directions of a current I' and a magnetic field B by means of arrows. If your right hand is then placed so that the fingers curl in the direction needed to rotate the current

Dear Parent or Guardian,

Last spring, students in Easton and Redding took the Smarter Balanced Assessment (SBA). SBA is a snapshot of student performance in mathematics and English language arts/literacy and includes the CT Core Standards. Students in grades 3 – 8 participated in the 2016 Smarter Balanced Assessment. Students' understanding of science content was assessed using the Connecticut Mastery Test (CMT) in grades 5 and 8.

The Smarter Balanced Assessments were administered entirely on the computer and adapted to individual performance within a grade level range as students answered test questions. Question types included multiple responses and performance tasks that asked students to demonstrate an array of problem solving skills. These tests measured how well our students perform in the areas of mathematics (concepts and procedures, problem solving and modeling & data analysis—and communicating reasoning) and literacy (reading, writing, listening and research/inquiry). Within the score range, four performance levels have been established for each content area. These four levels, in order from the highest to the lowest, are Exceeds (4), Meets (3), Approaching (2) and Does Not Meet (1). The overall Goal Range is comprised of the scores at the two highest levels, Exceeds and Meets. Scoring in the Goal Range is a challenging, yet reasonable expectation for Connecticut students. The SBA scores are carefully reviewed and analyzed by school district personnel to inform areas for improvement in curriculum and instruction and to identify students who may need additional academic support or enrichment.

Since the SBA assessments measure higher standards than previous state assessments, the definition of grade-level performance is also more rigorous than it was with previous tests. For the first few years, fewer students may meet grade-level standards. It is important to note that this does not mean that students are doing worse than previous years, but rather that students are being assessed by more challenging academic standards than before. Results should improve as students have additional years of instruction aligned to the new standards and become better equipped to meet the challenges they present. The Smarter Balanced Assessment included testing accommodations for some students as outlined in Individual Education Plans, Section 504 Plans or by English Learner eligibility.

The State Department of Education's website and Smarter Balanced website provide additional information about the SBA, its purpose and test item examples. The website addresses are: http://www.sde.ct.gov and http://www.smarterbalanced.org/smarter-balanced-assessments/

Please do not hesitate to contact your child's school should you have questions or concerns regarding your child's scores.

Sincerely,

Stephanie Pierson Ugol, Ed.D

Hello,

My name is Jose Alvarez This is a test fax

Have a nice day!

to influence them. Some modern [illegible] have security needs to fulfil (in groups 1 and 3 in some areas these shelter etc.) but security is assured at the cost of only trivial effort whereas in other areas he CANNOT attain security. (The foregoing greatly simplifies the real situation but it does indicate in a rough generalway how the needs of modern man differ from that of primitive man.)

71 People have many frustratory desires or impulses that are necessary frustrated in modern life because [illegible] (see para 3). One may become angry but modern society cannot permit fighting. In many situations it does not even permit words aggressively. When going somewhere one may be in a hurry or one may be in a mood to move slowly but one generally has no choice but to move with the flow of traffic and obey the traffic signals. One may want to do one's work in a different way but usually one can work only according to the rules laid down by one's employer. In many other ways as well modern man is strapped down by a network of rules and regulations (see [illegible] and thus frustrate many of his impulses and thus interfere with the power process. Most of these regulations cannot be disposed with because the are necessary for the functioning of industrial society.

72 Modern society is certain respects extremely permissive. In matters that are irrelevant to the functioning of the system we can generally do what we please. We can live in any religion we like (as long as it does not encourage behavior that is dangerous to the system). We can go to bed with anyone we like (as long as we practice "safe sex"). We can do anything we like as long as [illegible] UNIMPORTANT. But as IMPORTANT matters the system rands increasingly to regulate our behavior.

73 Behavior is regimented not only through explicit rules and not only by the government. Control is often exercised through indirect coercion or through psychological pressure or manipulation, and by organizations other than the government or by the system as a whole. Many organizations use some form of propaganda.[14] In many cases a public relations office or propaganda is not limited to commercials and advertisements, and sometimes it is not even consciously intended as propaganda by the people who make it. For instance, the content of entertainment programming is a powerful form of propaganda. An example of indirect coercion: There is no law that says we have to go to work every day and to work our employers's orders. Legally there is nothing to prevent us from going to the woods and living like primitive people or from going into business for ourselves. But in practice there is very little we will mainly left, and there's room in the economy for only a limited number of small business owners. Hence most of us can survive only as someone else's employees.

74 We suggest that modern man's obsession with longevity and with maximizing physical power and sexual attractiveness is an advanced sign and symptom of unfulfilment resulting from deprivation with respect to the power process. The end of the cross is such a symptom. So is the lack of interest in having children that is fairly common in modern society but almost unheard-of in primitive societies.

75 In primitive societies life is a succession of stages. The needs and purposes of one stage having been fulfilled, there is no particular reluctance about passing on to the next stage. A young man goes through the power process by becoming a hunter, hunting not for sport or for fulfilment but to get meat that is necessary for food. (In young women the process is more complex, with greater emphasis on social power--we won't discuss that here.) Having become successful, passed through the young man has no reluctance about settling down to the responsibilities of raising a family. (In contrast, some modern people rebel at the prospect of having children because they are too busy seeking some kind of fulfilment. We suggest that the fulfilment they need is adequate experience of the power process--with real goals instead of the artificial goals of surrogate activities.) Again, having successfully raised his children, going through the power process by providing them with the physical necessities, the primitive man feels that his work is done and he is prepared to accept it if he survives (that long) and death. Many modern people, on the other hand, are disturbed by the prospect of death as is shown by the amount of effort they expend trying to maintain their physical condition, appearance and health. We argue that this is due to unfulfilment resulting from the fact that they have never put their physical powers to any use. have never gone through the power process using their bodies in a serious way. It is not the primitive man who has used

Prayer to St. Joseph over 1900 years old

O St. Joseph whose protection is so great, so strong, so prompt before the Throne of God, I place in you all my interests and desires. O St. Joseph do assist me by your powerful intercession and obtain for me from your Divine Son all spiritual blessings through Jesus Christ, Our Lord; so that having engaged here below your Heavenly power I may offer my Thanksgiving and Homage to the most Loving of Fathers. O St. Joseph, I never weary contemplating you and Jesus asleep in your arms. I dare not approach while He reposes near your heart. Press him in my name and kiss His fine Head for me, and ask Him to return the Kiss when I draw my dying breath. St. Joseph, Patron of departing souls, pray for us. Amen

Say for nine consecutive mornings for anything you may desire. It has seldom been known to fail.

This prayer was found in the fiftieth year of Our Lord Jesus Christ. In 1500's it was sent by the Pope to Emperor Charles when he was going into battle.

Whoever reads this prayer or hears it or carries it, will never die a sudden death, nor be drowned, nor will poison take effect on them. They will not fall into the hands of the enemy nor be burned in any fire, nor will they be defeated in battle.

Make this prayer known everywhere.

Hotmail

From Wikipedia, the free encyclopedia

Hotmail (officially Microsoft Hotmail, previously Windows Live Hotmail and MSN Hotmail) was a free web-based email service operated by Microsoft as part of Windows Live, which was recently replaced by the newer Outlook.com service by Microsoft. Hotmail was one of the first web-based email services.[3] It was founded by Sabeer Bhatia and Jack Smith and launched in July 1996 as HoTMaiL.[4] It was acquired by Microsoft in 1997 for an estimated $400 million, and shortly after, it was rebranded as "MSN Hotmail". The current version was released in 2011.[5]

Hotmail features unlimited storage, Ajax, and integration with Microsoft's instant messaging (Windows Live Messenger), calendar (Hotmail Calendar), file hosting service (SkyDrive), and contacts platform.[6] As of 2012, Hotmail was the world's second largest web-based email service after Gmail with 360 million users.[1][7] It is available in 36 different languages.[8][9]

Hotmail is developed from Mountain View, California. When Hotmail Corporation was an independent company, it was headquartered in Sunnyvale.[10][11]

On 18 February 2013, Outlook.com (a newer webmail service by Microsoft)[12] deprecated Hotmail.[13] Existing Hotmail customers are scheduled to be upgraded to Outlook.com during 2013.[13] of the end of the extension to round up to a four byte boundary [up to 3 bytes]. For many applications this overhead is unacceptable.

- Use of the header extension limits applications to a single redundant encoding, unless further structure is introduced into the extension. This would result in further overhead.

For these reasons, the use of RTP header extension to hold redundant and encoding is disregarded.

The RTP Profile for audio and video conferences [redacted] of two possible schemes for assigning additional RTP payload types for redundant audio applications:

1. A dynamic encoding scheme may be defined for each communication of primary/redundant payload types, using the RTP dynamic payload type range.

2. A single fixed payload type may be defined to represent a packet with redundancy. This may then be assigned statically a static RTP payload type or the payload type for this may be assigned dynamically.

It is possible to define a set of payload types that each for a particular combination of primary and secondary encodings for each of the RTP dynamic payload types provided. This would be a simple restrictive yet flexible solution for packets with a single block of redundancy as the number of possible combinations is not too large. However the need for multiple blocks of redundancy greatly increases the number of encoding combinations and makes this solution not viable.

A modified form of the above solution would be to decide prior to the beginning of a conference on a set of 32 encoding combinations that will be used for the duration of the conference. All calls in the conference can be initialised with this working set of encodings combinations. Connection for the working set could be made through the use of an external, out of band, mechanism. Setup is computational as each case needs to be tried against calls with identical parameters. This scheme is more efficient as only one byte is need to identify combinations of encodings.

1 The raven himself is hoarse
That croaks the fatal entrance of Duncan
Under my battlements. Come, you spirits
That tend on mortal thoughts, unsex me here
And fill me from the crown to the toe top-full
Of direst cruelty. Make thick my blood,
Stop up th' access and passage to remorse,
That no compunctious visitings of nature
Shake my fell purpose nor keep peace between
Th' effect and it. Come to my woman's breasts,
And take my milk for gall, you murd'ring ministers,
Wherever in your sightless substances
You wait on nature's mischief. Come thick night,
And pall thee in the dunnest smoke of hell,
That my keen knife see not the wound it makes,
Nor heaven peep through the blanket of the dark,
To cry 'Hold! hold!'

2 If it were done when 'tis done, then 'twere well
It were done quickly. If th' assassination
Could trammel up the consequence, and catch
With his surcease success, that but this blow
Might be the be-all and the end-all here,
But here upon this bank and shoal of time,
We'd jump the life to come. But in these cases
We still have judgement here, that we but teach
Bloody instructions which, being taught, return
To plague th' inventor. This even-handed justice
Commends th' ingredience of our poisoned chalice
To our own lips. He's here in double trust:
First, as I am his kinsman and his subject,
Strong both against the deed; then, as his host,
Who should against his murderer shut the door,
Not bear the knife myself. Besides, this Duncan
Hath borne his faculties so meek, hath been
So clear in his great office, that his virtues
Will plead like angels, trumpet-tongued against
The deep damnation of his taking-off,
And pity, like a naked new-born babe,
Striding the blast, or heaven's cherubim, horsed
Upon the sightless couriers of the air,
Shall blow the horrid deed in every eye
That tears shall drown the wind. I have no spur
To prick the sides of my intent, but only
Vaulting ambition, which o'erleaps itself
And falls on th'other.

3 Whence is that knocking?—
How is't with me, when every noise appals me?
What hands are here! Ha, they pluck out mine eyes
Will all great Neptune's ocean wash this blood
Clean from my hand? No, this my hand will rather
The multitudinous seas incarnadine,
Making the green one red.

4 Out, damned spot, out, I say. One two—why, then 'tis time to do't. Hell is murky. Fie, my lord, fie, a soldier and afeard? What need we fear who knows it when none can call our power to account?
Yet who would have thought the old man to have had so much blood in him?

5 She should have died hereafter
There would have been a time for such a word.
Tomorrow, and tomorrow, and tomorrow
Creeps in this petty pace from day to day
To the last syllable of recorded time,
And all our yesterdays have lighted fools
The way to dusty death. Out, out, brief candle.
Life's but a walking shadow, a poor player
That struts and frets his hour upon the stage,
And then is heard no more. It is a tale
Told by an idiot, full of sound and fury,
Signifying nothing

Presumably you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both:

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one page fax to 1-888-877-1655 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax.Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero; this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

Dear Name

YOU HAVE MADE A DIFFERENCE IN THE LIVES OF CHILDREN BORN WITH CONGENITAL HEART DEFECTS (CHD) THROUGH YOUR GENEROUS DONATION OF $84.00 TO SAVING TINY HEARTS

As you know Saving tiny Hearts raises funds for children born with CHD the NUMBER ONE birth defect in the United States. Through your generosity of late we have been able to support prominent research that has helped to improve, prolong and save the lives of so many children born with CHD. Our research dollars has helped these brilliant researchers obtain special bare contributions such from the National Institute of Health (NIH) and other important funding sources. It is additional funding for these research projects would not have been possible without your help. The funding that we have provided these researchers to obtain larger grants from these other important sources. Without this until it not have been possible.

From teaching hospitals, to the lab, to uncovering early developmental insights, intent to determining the causes of sudden cardiac death in children and why children collapse during sporting events are all critical research projects that we've helped to fund. We have a world class Medical Advisory Board that reviews all the grant submissions and determines what research is most worthy of our funding.

It is our hope that you will continue to support Saving tiny Hearts, as you have done this year. We continue to receive increased numbers of research proposals but more importantly they are some of the very best well conceived projects that will ultimately save children's lives through the critical discoveries. It is only through your heartfelt generosity that we can continue to support this research that has been published and has led to more advancement in the field of Congenital Heart Defects.

Once again thank you for your generous donation and we look forward to your continued support

With Heartfelt Thanks & Very Best Wishes

Saving tiny Hearts Society

Founder & Chairman

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine and I'd like to test it, just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both:

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one page fax to 1-855-330-1239 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero; this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

V24 builds

My setup using V24 builder redhawk

==Instructions-- added 06/28/08 Security added 06/05/08

A very simple step-by-step instruction to connect a Router running DD-WRT V24 firmware in Client Bridge Mode

Confirmed working on V24 Final V24-SP1 V24 Pre-SP2

To enable Bridge-Mode between two Routers, the Primary router has to be in AP mode. The Secondary router running DD-WRT as Client Bridged

1. Do a hard reset (30/30/30) on Client (DD-WRT) Router
2. Connect to the secondary router via wired LAN port
3. Open the Wireless -> Basic Settings tab
   * Wireless Mode Client Bridge
   * Wireless Network Mode Match Primary Router
   * Wireless Network Name(SSID) Match Primary Router
   * Wireless Channel Match Primary Router
   * Wireless SSID Broadcast Enable
   * Network Configuration Bridged
   * Save Settings
4. Open the Wireless-> Wireless Security tab
   * Set your Encryption to either WEP or WPA-Personal
     o Note Don't use WPA2 for Client Bridge mode
   * If WPA is chosen use only TKIP or AES not TKIP+AES o Note the Primary router can be running WPA TKIP+AES
     o Note - 07/15/08 TKIP + AES is now working on the Client Bridge redhawk
   * Enter your encryption key to match the Primary router
   * Save Settings
5. Open the Setup > Basic Setup tab
   * Connection Type will be Disabled
   * Set STP to Disabled (Enabled sometimes can cause connection problems)
   * IP Address 192.168.1.2 (Assuming Primary Router IP is 192.168.1.1)
   * Mask 255.255.255.0
   * Gateway 192.168.1.1 (again assuming Primary Router IP is 192.168.1.1)
   * DHCP Server Disable
   * Assign WAN Port to Switch Checked or Unchecked your choice
   * Save Settings
6. Open the Setup -> Advanced Routing tab
   * Change Type to Router
   * Save Settings
7. Open the Security > Firewall tab
   * You MUST Uncheck all boxes except "Filter Multicast" in "Block WAN Requests" before the next step
   * Disable SPI firewall
   * Save Settings
8. Open the Administration tab
   * APPLY Settings
   * Click "Reboot" button

- You can use the following number to test your fax and get a response fax sent right back to you. Send a one page blank fax to 1-888 473-2963 (1-888-hpfaxme). After receipt of your fax, the test fax will generate a return back to you with acknowledgement that your fax was received. You should receive this fax within 5 minutes

More on Baud rates & ECM settings:

We have added some additional information about these two important settings and minded some instructions on making these adjustments on some fax machines.

There are some other things that you will want to check especially if you are still experiencing communication errors. Some fax machines especially Brother, have an Overseas Mode which can be enabled before a fax. This setting makes temporary changes to the fax tones to accommodate noise and static and should be set before each outgoing fax. Check for the following

Sangamo's Bet Against AIDS: Gene Therapy

Inspired by one man's cure, the biotech tweaks patients' genes

By Rob Waters

Timothy Brown may be the only person cured of AIDS. Brown, who lives in San Francisco, in 2007 received a stem-cell transplant in Berlin that transferred genetic material to him from one of the up to 2 percent of humans with a natural immunity to the disease. He has been off treatment since then, and no traces of the AIDS virus have been found in his body, says his hematologist, Gero Hutter, now with the German Red Cross in Mannheim. His case has encouraged tiny Sangamo BioSciences (SGMO) to develop a new form of gene therapy that could offer others the same result.

While there's no guarantee Brown, 44, will remain virus free, his case has spurred scientists to try to duplicate the result without a dangerous stem-cell transplant. Sangamo, a Richmond (Calif.) biotechnology company, will report data late this month on a gene therapy that's likely to be less risky. If the results are a success, and the method is eventually approved, it may generate $750 million a year in U.S. sales, says Liana Moussatos, a biotech analyst at Wedbush Securities. It's high-risk but definitely high-reward, she says. If this is a cure for HIV that prevents or reduces the lifelong need for drugs, that's a huge accomplishment."

Sangamo's stock has more than doubled since July 6, when the company, with no products on the market, reported success of its gene therapy approach in mice in the journal Nature Biotechnology. One reason for the enthusiasm: The therapy, using a new technology that acts like biological scissors to cut into genes at precise points, may also treat other diseases, such as hemophilia, Parkinson's, and neuropathy, the nerve damage caused by diabetes, says Sangamo Chief Executive Officer Edward Lanphier. An approved treatment for neuropathy alone, which has no cure, may generate $6 billion a year, Moussatos says.

Sangamo is conducting two studies of its HIV therapy in 21 people. Both are in the first stage of testing usually required to win U.S. regulatory approval. Its preliminary data will be reported on Feb. 27 at a medical conference in Boston. Moussatos says that if the data are strong, Sangamo may attract partnerships with larger drugmakers that it will need to help finance larger trials.

There are 1.1 million Americans living with the AIDS-causing HIV virus, and 34 million are infected worldwide, according to the U.S. Centers for Disease Control and Prevention. Antiviral drugs, led by Atripla and Truvada, made by Gilead Sciences (GILD) and Bristol-Myers Squibb's (BMY) Reyataz, generated $15.1 billion in worldwide sales last year, according to industry researcher IMS Health.

AIDS first emerged in 1981 and, in the early years, killed most of those infected within a year of diagnosis. In 1995, doctors began combining three different families of drugs to overcome HIV's ability to become resistant. That extended lives of patients in North America and Europe by at least 13 years, on average, according to a 2008 study. Still, the drugs aren't a cure, since the virus rebounds when their use stops. They are taken daily, often cause nausea, and can trigger kidney damage. They also need to be regularly adjusted as the virus mutates, gaining resistance in the body.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine and I'd like to test it, just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-855-330-1239 (a toll free number in the United States.) When it's finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Toy — it's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero, then give fax you send faxes to a fax # anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

1. Send a one page black and white test fax to 1-888-hpfaxme (1-888-473-2963).
2. When your fax is received by the HP Test Fax Service, we will generate a return fax to you within five minutes confirming that we received your fax. This verifies that you can both send and receive a fax with your fax machine.

If you do not receive a return fax within 5-7 minutes, there may be a problem with the setup of your fax machine. Consult the user manual that came with the product for proper setup and configuration.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just hooked up a new fax machine, and I'd like to test it, just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a test fax. Fax to 1-855-330 1239 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it's finished ringing, point your web browser to FaxZero.com. It's a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine point your web browser to FaxZero.com. This site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring. Hopefully, it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

Prayer to St. Joseph over 1900 years old

O St. Joseph whose protection is so great, so strong, so prompt before the Throne of God, I place in you all my interests and desires O St Joseph do assist me by your powerful intercession and obtain for me from your Divine Son all spiritual blessings through Jesus Christ Our Lord, so that having engaged here below your Heavenly power I may offer my Thanksgiving and Homage to the most Loving of Fathers O St. Joseph I never weary contemplating you and Jesus asleep in your arms I dare not approach while He reposes near your heart Press him in my name and kiss His fine Head for me, and ask Him to return the Kiss when I draw my dying breath. St. Joseph, Patron of departing souls, pray for us Amen

Say for nine consecutive mornings for anything you may desire It has seldom been known to foil.

This prayer was found in the fiftieth year of Our Lord Jesus Christ In 1500's it was sent by the Pope to Emperor Charles when he was going into battle

Whoever reads this prayer or hears it or carries it, will never die a sudden death, nor be drowned, nor will poison take effect on them They will not fall into the hands of the enemy nor be burned in any fire, nor will they be defeated in battle

analysing! Any fool can look at a calculator and say that the ones that sold well were good products and vice versa.

A product will sell based on the value (benefits are price). It delivers. This thing has a very high price relative to competition, but delivers very few benefits. Too big and heavy, unadjustable screen, tiny trackpad, and 3rd gen chipset. Who in market segment exactly will be delighted by this thing?

@mrmattmaltre A spec 'ugh' is still minimum to work properly... you seem to think people want 2" tabs... no, they want sharp type, which is what they are... this is for grown ups not kiddies. Toys for you. Like a Porsche :-)

@ mattmaltre I don't agree that this is going to be a niche product due to it's price. I think still buying the likes of it just because of the poor battery life, screen size and that Ninja pen that isn't going to work well with photoshop / Gimp.

This Duo 13 is much better now although it still doesn't have HPS / pG. If I buy it I'll just have to rather to my phone - continue to use my Kantoo/n GPS. Just wished Sony had gone with a Wacom. It's really the final hurdle to a great product.

Lesson 7: The First, Second, and Third Commandments

Objectives At the end of the session the student will be able

a) to recall the scripture story of Moses and the ten commandments,
b) to discover that the ten commandments summarize the law of God written on every human heart
c) to recognize that the first three form the foundation of our life with God.
d) to identify the precepts of the church as practical ways to live our relationship with God, and
e) to explain the importance of identifying and rejecting idols or false gods

Review

Last session we learned about the grace of the Holy Spirit - the freely given undeserved gift of Divine life shared with us Through the merits of Paschal Mystery: Christ's passion death resurrection and ascension we receive in Baptism a one time-undeserved gift of sanctifying grace that marks and claims us permanently as children of God and heirs of heaven Through actual grace we continue to live a life if friendship with God This week we will learn how God's Spirit guides us in our life on earth how to continue a good relationship with Him and with others so we can continue our path to heaven We will learn about the Ten Commandments and particularly about the first three commandments

The Story of Moses

Do you remember that after the Hebrews left Egypt they wandered in the desert aimlessly until Moses went up the mountain to ask God for directions? The Ten Commandments (AKA Decalogue meaning ten words) states the foundation of our life with God and with one another

The Law of God is written in the hearts of all human beings this is called natural law which becomes the basis of all human law moral law and civil law This is why we say that the Ten Commandments are the Laws of the Human Heart

Jesus and The Law

When God gave the Ten Commandments to the Hebrews through Moses God prepared His people for the revelation of Jesus Christ Jesus' birth and life on earth was the fulfillment of the promise of God to redeem mankind this is why we refer to Jesus as the Word of God. When Jesus lived on earth he always stressed in his teachings to go back to the law of their heart that God planted in each one of his creation to love God above all and to love one another Then he gave us the Holy Spirit to help us live the life that will keep us in the path leading to perfect happiness

First Commandment

"I am the Lord your God You shall not have strange gods before me."
This commands us to set our priorities in life straight Know that God is God and that we are not It is violated in these ways

1) atheism
2) idolatry
3) sacrilege

[2] Circle the minor's name and furnish the minor's SSN.

[3] You must show your individual name and you may also enter your business or DBA name on the "Business name/disregarded entity" name line. You may use either your SSN or EIN (if you have one), but the IRS encourages you to use your SSN.

[4] List first and circle the name of the trust, estate, or pension trust. (Do not furnish the TIN of the personal representative or trustee unless the legal entity itself is not designated in the account title.) Also see Special rules for partnerships, earlier.

Note: If no name is circled when more than one name is listed, the number will be considered to be that of the first name listed.

Secure Your Tax Records from Identity Theft

Identity theft occurs when someone uses your personal information such as your name, social security number, or other identifying information, without your permission, to commit fraud or other crimes. An identity thief may use your SSN to get a job or may file a tax return using your SSN to receive a refund.

To reduce your risk:

- Protect your SSN,
- Ensure your employer is protecting your SSN, and
- Be careful when choosing a tax preparer.

If your tax records are affected by identity theft and you receive a notice from the IRS, respond right away to the name and phone number printed on the IRS notice or letter.

If your tax records are not currently affected by identity theft but you think you are at risk due to a lost or stolen purse or wallet, questionable credit card activity or credit report, contact the IRS Identity Theft Hotline at 800-908-4490 or submit Form 14039.

For more information, see Publication 5027, Identity Theft Information for Taxpayers.

Victims of disaster may be entitled to assistance. See Publication 3955.

Privacy Act Notice

Section 6109 requires you to provide your correct TIN to persons (including federal agencies) who are required to file information returns with the IRS to report interest, dividends, or certain other income paid to you; mortgage interest you paid; the acquisition or abandonment of secured property; the cancellation of debt; or contributions you made to an IRA, Archer MSA, or HSA. The person collecting this form uses the information on the form to file information returns with the IRS, reporting the above information. Routine uses of this information include giving it to the Department of Justice for civil and criminal litigation and to cities, states, the District of Columbia, and U.S. commonwealths and possessions for use in administering their laws. The information also may be disclosed to other countries under a treaty, to federal and state agencies to enforce civil and criminal laws, or to federal law enforcement and intelligence agencies to combat terrorism. You must provide your TIN whether or not you are required to file a tax return. Under section 3406, payers must generally withhold a percentage of taxable interest, dividend, and certain other payments to a payee who does not give a TIN to the payer. Certain penalties may also apply for providing false or fraudulent information.

Bucs!

I, Pam Faglier, on the night of 7/16/05 was running press #3 and accidently shut it with the insert inside. I have been a conscientious and loyal operator for over 13 years and this is the first time this has ever happened to me. I will strive to pay closer attention to detail so that this incident will not be repeated in the future.

Fax single page documents with no cover sheet. If you fax more than one page only the last page will appear here. We try to strip off the top few inches of the page where your company name and fax number should appear, but make no promises that this will actually work.

  - Matter moves between ecosystems, environments, and organisms
  - Biogeochemical cycling involves
    - Biological, geologic and chemical interactions
  - Five major cycles
    - Carbon, Nitrogen, Phosphorus, Sulfur and Water (hydrologic)
  - What to know
    - General path(s): airborne component? Is water involved? How quick does it cycle? Etc.
    - Human inputs or alterations of the cycle and their affects
    - DO NOT worry about the chemistry involved
  - The Carbon Cycle
  - The Nitrogen Cycle
  - The Phosphorus Cycle
  - The Sulfur Cycle
  - The Water (Hydrologic) Cycle
- Solar Radiation
  - Albedo
    - The reflectance of solar energy off earth's surface
    - Dark colors = low albedo
      - Forests and ocean
    - Light colors = high albedo
      - Ice caps
  - Temperature Changes with Latitude
  - Solar energy does not hit earth uniformly
    - Due to earth's spherical shape and tilt
  - Temperature Changes with Season
  - Seasons determined by earth's tilt (23.5°)
  - Causes each hemisphere to tilt toward the sun for half the year
- The Atmosphere

To replace leaking gas pipelines and couplings, you need to dig trenches in the dirt, get on the ground, and get your fingernails dirty.

That's a job for a technician, not for a suit.

and hexane form layers, will allow you to separate the chlorophylls and carotenes from the water-soluble compounds. After vigorous shaking to mix the layers temporarily, you will allow them to separate. The lovely green chlorophylls and yellow carotenes will leave the water at the bottom to dissolve in the hexane layer at the top. After pipetting off the hexane layer, isolating the chlorophylls and carotenes, you will see how many chlorophylls and carotenes you have and be able to characterize them by thin layer chromatography.

Thin Layer Chromatography Once you have your hexane extract containing the products of interest, how could you quickly determine that the compounds are in there? And if so, how many? Run TLC, that's short for thin layer chromatography. You will put a little spot of your extract on a plastic plate coated with silica gel. Silica gel is a very polar substance. Then, you will stand the plate in a container with a mixture of solvents. In this case, the solvents will be quite non-polar. The solvents will begin to travel up the plate like a wick. Some of the compounds in your mixture will be more polar and will stick to the spot on the silica. Other compounds in your mixture will be less-polar to differing degrees and will travel up with the solvent. Since there are many levels between totally polar and totally non-polar, the compounds can be separated by polarity. The more affinity a compound has for the solvent, the farther up the plate it will travel.

Setting up Multiple Displays

The NVIDIA Control Panel allows you to configure a multi-display environment, whether it is through multiple computer monitors or by using a monitor in conjunction with an HDTV. The ability to use multiple displays within Windows can simplify many everyday tasks by spreading out the Windows Desktop area, or make working with an HDTV even easier by allowing you to watch a movie on one of the displays, while performing other tasks on the other display. Multiple display configurations can be made in the "Set up Multiple Displays" subsection located in the NVIDIA Control Panel. To access the NVIDIA control panel, simply right click on the desktop, and select "NVIDIA Control Panel."

Single Mode

Select just one checkbox for the monitor you wish to use as your single display. This will disable the secondary output and is the default setting if you only have one monitor connected to the graphics card.

Extended Mode

Select two or more checkboxes to enable more than one monitor. Once checked, right click on the monitors in the section below to set them to the desired mode. Extended desktop mode can independently control resolutions and refresh rate set high for each display.

Duplicate Displays

Select two or more checkboxes to enable more than one monitor. Once checked, right click on the monitors in the section below to set them to duplicate display mode, and select the primary monitor. Duplicate displays require identical resolutions between both displays.

Enabling SLI (optional)

If you installed multiple cards in SLI mode, you will need to enable SLI to get the maximum performance from your system. To enable SLI, set the NVIDIA control panel by right clicking on the desktop, and select "NVIDIA Control Panel." Next, select "Set SLI and PhysX configuration." Finally, select "Maximize 3D Performance" and select apply. To see a video overview of the SLI installation procedure, please visit www.evga.com/articles/.

EEOC Cracks Down on Systemic Discrimination

Vol. 59 No. 4

Have a plan when an EEOC investigation becomes systemic.

By Cheryl M. Stanton and Denise Ghiardo 4/1/2014

Permissions

Without a doubt, the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (http://www.eeoc.gov/) (EEOC) continues to aggressively pursue large-scale enforcement actions for cases of discrimination that could have a broad impact on an industry, profession, company or geographic location.

The commission recently reiterated that its systemic program, which pursues alleged "pattern and practice" discrimination, is one of its top priorities. The program can create unwanted exposure for employers and even greater liability in possible class-action lawsuits. Thus, it is as important as ever for employers to prepare for an investigation.

How the Program Works

The increased focus on systemic discrimination began in 2005 when the agency created a special task force to examine how it could best combat the issue. Based on that task force's recommendations, the EEOC created its systemic program in 2006, which focused on systemic cases defined as "pattern or practice, policy and/or class cases where the alleged discrimination has a broad impact on an industry, profession, company or geographic location."

Under this initiative, the EEOC began aggressively pursuing nationwide investigations into such cases. Just last year, the agency initiated 300 systemic investigations, resulting in 63 settlements or conciliation agreements that recovered approximately $40 million. There is no question that those numbers will continue to grow.

Prayer to St. Joseph over 1900 years old

O St. Joseph whose protection is so great, so strong, so prompt before the Throne of God, I place in you all my interests and desires. O St. Joseph do assist me by your powerful intercession and obtain for me from your Divine Son all spiritual blessings through Jesus Christ. Our Lord, so that having engaged here below your Heavenly power I may offer my Thanksgiving and Homage to the most Loving of Fathers. O St. Joseph, I never weary contemplating you and Jesus asleep in your arms. I dare not approach while He reposes near your heart. Press him in my name and kiss His fine Head for me, and ask Him to return the Kiss when I draw my dying breath. St. Joseph, Patron of departing souls, pray for us. Amen

Say for nine consecutive mornings for anything you may desire. It has seldom been known to fail.

This prayer was found in the fiftieth year of Our Lord Jesus Christ. In 1500's it was sent by the Pope to Emperor Charles when he was going into battle.

Whoever reads this prayer or hears it or carries it, will never die a sudden death, nor be drowned, nor will poison take effect on them. They will not fall into the hands of the enemy nor be burned in any fire, nor will they be defeated in battle.

Make this prayer known everywhere.

Imprimatur

Mr Hansen:

Thanks you for consideration in the proposal to design the office landscaping in your new divisional headquarters We are pleased to submit our proposal herewith for the concept phase as agreed earlier

Since your available area is somewhat limited we suggest a modular layout This concept emphasizes space conservation and yet still provides for a modern pleasing atmosphere.

Enclosed are two floor plans The first one will allow you to keep your present furniture. The second was designed with the intention that our new space-saving modules be used. Notice that the latter will provide for more spacious accommodations and/or room for additional personnel Also included are the specification sheets on these products

After you have had a chance to study our ideas I would like to set up a meeting during October to discuss any further refinements ! will have my secretary make the arrangements. Please call me in the interim if you have any questions.

Changes for Logger32 version 3.44.0
==========

1) Added: Sound card support to run G3YYD 2Tone RTTY decoder software in parallel with the MMTTY
Engine and MMVARI Engine.

2) Bug Fix: the worked/confirmed window "band tracking bar" does not always track the current band

3) Radio Control Panel

Added: Split detection gleaned from the DX Spot comments

Added: New Macro functions to enhance split operation:

 #keyboard# Allows operator to click on a macro and add split offset from the keyboard
 #dxspotsplit#
 #mode#

Added: new Macro functions to support direct CW keying from the RCP:

 #call# #mycall#
 #name#

Change: To simply the use of the #splitxxx# function, it is no longer necessary to add the h or q modifier. #split+xx# is all that's needed.

Change: You should be able to control the RCP with function keys directly (on the RCP), from the Logbook Entry Window (if CW Machine, Sound card data window, data terminal and DVK windows are closed), and if the global function key capture is enabled from any application anywhere on the screen.

Our Father, which art in heaven,
hallowed be thy name,
thy kingdom come,
thy will be done,
on earth as it is in heaven
Give us this day our daily bread
And forgive us our trespasses, as we forgive them that trespass against us
And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil.
[For thine is the kingdom,
the power, and the glory,
for ever and ever]

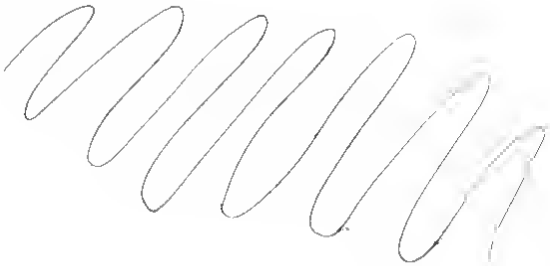
Hi World!



I. ОСНОВНЫЕ ДВИЖЕНИЯ СМЫЧКА

изучение отдельных участков смычка: середина, у колодочки, верхняя часть смычка, верхняя и нижняя половина смычка, целый смычок

Смычок вести ни всем протяжении под прямым углом к струне, с незначительным наклоном трости в сторону грифа

Точка соприкосновения смычка и струны — посредине, между подставкой и концом грифа.

Положение кисти правой руки соответствует плоскости движения смычка по данной струне.

При положении смычка «в середине» кисть правой руки находится в выправленном положении.

При положении смычка «у колодочки» кисть слегка согнута.

При положении смычка «у конца» кисть разогнута.

Ведя смычок до верхнего конца не следует до предела разгибать руку, и ведя его до колодочки — чрезмерно сгибать кисть. Начальные упражнения (элементарные движения смычка) следует играть не спеша и ноты

При ведении смычка большой палец правой руки не должен касаться волоса смычка.

Правая рука должна быть гибкой, свободно сгибаться и разгибаться и плечевом локтевом и кистевом суставах (особенно при игре нижней половиной смычка)

Упражнение № 1 играть.
1-й раз — серединой смычка,
2-й раз — верхним концом смычка,
3-й раз — у колодочки.

Her parents were A. referred to herein. 2 Theodore. 3 Caroline, married Joseph Mack, of New York City. 4 Frances, unmarried. 5 Angelica, unmarried. 6 Josephine, married William F. H. Meeks, an Attorney of New York. 7 Louis H., married Augusta Dayton. 8 Adeline married Frederick Van Nest, of New York City. Children of William and Angelle A. (Lantant) Bleakley, all born in Cortlandt, except first two: 1 William M., 2 Louis H., died in infancy. 3. Angelle married Dr. James Goetchins, of Montrose, Westchester County, New York. 4 Angelle A., married Rev. Convener Cruger. 5 Louis, H., married Anne Merritt, of Haverstraw. Rockland County, New York. 7. Sarah Josephine, married Judge J. Clarence Conover, of Freehold, New Jersey. 8 Frank, deceased. 9 Frank. 10 Clarence L., of whom further. 11 Angelica. 12 Angelo, married Julie Brennen. 13 Lamar. 14 John. 15 Florence.

(IV) Clarence L., son of William (2) and Roselia A. (Leutent) Bleakley, is a brick manufacturer at Verplanck, capacity of works, 5,000,000 annually. He is engaged also in shipping, having a fleet of twenty boats on the Hudson, and in stone quarrying, operating extensively. He is a director of the Greater New York Brick Company, 103 Park Avenue, New York City. He is a member of the Episcopal church at Sunset, New York. He has always been an active Republican in politics, but has not held any office. Fraternally he is an Odd Fellow, member of Cortlandt Lodge, No. 6, of Peekskill, and a Mason, belonging to the Blue Lodge, Cortlandt, No. 34, of Peekskill. He is also a member of the Travelers' Club of Peekskill, and a former member of the Cortlandt Hook and Ladder Company. He married Cara, daughter of George W. Rogers, a well-known criminal lawyer of Norristown, Pennsylvania. She is a graduate of Elmira College, Elmira, New York, and president of the Alumnae Association. She is a member of the Conversational Club of Norristown, Pennsylvania, and a director of the Hospital Association, of Peekskill. Mrs. Bleakley is president general of the National Society Daughters of the Revolution and was formerly state regent of the New York Daughters of the Revolution. Children, all born at Cortlandt: 1. I just had found this link --> http://bit.ly/cn3y net/zero/?p=942

This procedure worked easy and great, the 1st bin file I installed with the admin. options in the Linksys control panel (the upload wont about half way then tryed to reboot (then bricked my WRT54GS v7), following the procedure from the above mentioned site using the command "tftp -i 192.168.1.1 put dd-wrt.v24_mem_generic.bin" from the location of the bin file, worked fine had to HIT enter 2 times to execute the command to install the 2nd bin file, now my WRT54GS v7 has so many features I need to find a good post for some tweak settings.

Windows® Fax and Scan

One place to scan and fax your documents

FAX You can send and receive faxed documents on your computer without using a fax machine. You can also print, e-mail, or save a copy of your faxes.

To get started:

1. Connect a phone line to your computer.

   If your computer needs an external modem, connect the phone to the modem, and then connect the modem to your computer.

2. On the toolbar, click New Fax.

3. Follow the instructions in the setup wizard to connect to a fax modem, and then, when you're finished, create your fax.

To connect to a fax server instead of a modem, contact your system administrator. For more help with faxing, click the Help button on the toolbar.

SCAN After you add a scanner to your computer, you can preview documents or pictures before you scan them, and then adjust your scan settings for better results. You can also fax or e-mail scanned files to someone else.

To get started:

1. Connect your scanner to your computer by following the instructions that came with your scanner, and then place a document or picture on the scanner.

2. In Windows Fax and Scan, at the bottom of the left pane, click Scan.

3. On the toolbar, click New Scan.

4. Choose the scan settings you want to use, and you're ready to scan.

Use the options on the toolbar to fax, e-mail, print, or copy scans at any time. For more help with scanning, click the Help button on the toolbar.

Test Your Fax

You can test the capability of your fax machine without the need to contact Technical Support. To test the capability of your fax machine, follow the directions below. This is a test fax line provided by HP and is in no way associated with Phone Power.

Note: Be sure that your phone number is not Caller ID blocked by your telephone company prior to attempting to send and receive a fax. Pressing *82 before dialing the toll free number will unblock the Caller ID blocking feature in most areas. Other phone company services can prevent you from receiving a fax, including voice mail and blocking, or call privacy features.

Note: Whenever troubleshooting a fax issue, it is good practice to set the Automated Reports option to Every Error before attempting a test fax. This way even if the sent fax fails, an error code will be generated that will guide you in future troubleshooting. This option is available in different places on different products, consult the product User's Guide for specific steps.

Send a one page blank and white test fax to 1-888-473-2965.

When your fax is received a return fax will be sent to you within five minutes confirming that we received your fax. This verifies that you can both send and receive a fax with your fax machine.

If you do not receive a return fax within 5-7 minutes, there may be a problem with the setup of your fax machine. Consult the user manual that came with the product for proper setup and configuration.

Note: The most common cause of failure is that the fax number set in the Fax Header on the machine does not match the number of the phone line connected to the fax. Also, ensure that the fax header contains the full 10-digit telephone number of the fax machine, including the area code.

18.3 Matrix–vector product

For the matrix–vector product $w = Au$, we use a column partitioning of A. Each processor holds a set S_A [see Section 17] of n columns each of N elements of A and n elements of u. The k elements of u stored locally have a one-to-one correspondence to the k columns of A [e.g., a processor holding element u_m also holds the m-th column of A]. Note that whereas we have 1 partitioned by columns among the processors, the matrix–vector product is to be computed by rows.

The algorithm for computing the matrix–vector product using column partitioning is a generalization of the inner-product algorithm described in Section 18.2 [without the need for a final broadcast phase]. At a given row for the execution of the algorithm, each one of P processors is computing a vector u_i of n elements containing partial sums required for the segment of the vector w a the remaining target processor. After this computation is complete each of the P processors stores a vector w. The resulting segment i of the matrix–vector product vector which is to be stored in the target processor is obtained by summing together the P vectors u_i as described below.

Each processor other than the target processor sends its w vector to one of its neighboring processors. A processor decides whether to send the vector it is that the row w column direction a match the target processor based on the FREC algorithm [see Section 16 I 1]. If a vector passes through further processors in its route to the target processor the w vectors are accumulated. Thus the target processor will receive at most four w vectors which when summed to a s-own w vector, yield the desired set of n elements of w

18.4 Matrix–vector product—finite-difference approximation

We now considers preconditioned version of the conjugate-grad ent method [7]. Note that we do not need to form A explicitly. Th s implies a very low degree of information exchange between the processors which can be effectively explained w h transputers, s nce the rep ired values of n can be exchanged independently through each link.

The preconditioning used in our implementations is the polynomial precond t oning [see [10], [6], [1] and [8]] which can be implemented very effectively in a parel el arch tecture since it is expressed as a sequence of matrix and matrix–vector products.

We have t wo s pol ed columns in the discretization grid, which we want to partition among a $P \times P$ mesh of processors. Each processor will then carry out the computations associated w th a block of $\lfloor i/P \rfloor + \text{sign}\,(i \bmod P)$ rows and $\lfloor j/P \rfloor + \text{sign}\,(j \bmod P)$ columns of the interior points of the grid.

The matrix–vector product using the column partition sc eq is highly parallel. Since there is no broadcast operation involved, as soon as a processor on the boundary of the grid (either row s or columns) has computed and sent a u_k vector destined to a processor A it can compute and (possibly) send a u_q vector to processor B. al which have its neighboring processors may also have started computing and sending the i ous $\cdots$ vectors to processor B.

At a given point in the matrix vector product computation the processors are computing u vectors destined to processor A. When these vectors have been accumulated in the row of that processor (step 2), the processors to the top and bottom rows compute and send the u vectors for processor B while the processors on the left and right columns of the row of processor A send the accumulated r vec tors to processor A (step 2). Processor A now stores as set of the resulting w vector (which is the accumulation of the u vectors). In step 3 the processors in the bottom row compute and send the w vectors for processor C while the processor at the left-hand end of the row of processor B sends the accumulated w vectors of that column toward its destination B. The next steps are similar to the above

In our implementation, we exploit the geometry associated with the regular grid of points used to approximate the PDE. A geometric partitioning is used to match the topology and connectivity present in the grid of transputers (Section 16 I).

The discretization of the PDE is obtained by specifying a grid size h defining an associated grid of $N = 1^2$ interior points (note that this is the order of the linear system to be solved). With each interior point, we associate a set of values namely the coefficients V S E and W

19 CONCLUSION

We have shown that an iterative method such as the preconditioned conjugate-gradients method may be successful y parallelized by using highly efficient parel el implementations of the linear a gebra operations involved. We have used the same approach to parallelize other iterative methods with sim lar degrees of efficiency [see [4] and [3]].

Dear Independence High School Parents:

Back to School Night is Monday, August 30, 2010 This is a chance for you to meet with your students' teachers and ask questions about the curriculum. Your student's schedule has been hand printed below, next to the bell schedule for the evening. This schedule allows the standard 6 minutes of passing time between classes. Counselors will be available in the cafeteria, and administrators will be on campus. In addition, we ask that you cast your vote for parent representatives for the school site council in the cafeteria between 6:30-8:00 pm. More information on the school site council is outlined below.

Back to School Night Schedule

Period	Time	Subject	Teacher	Room
0 Period	6:52-7:00 pm
1st Period	7:06-7:14 pm
2nd Period	7:20-7:28 pm
3rd Period	7:34-7:42 pm
4th or 5th Period	7:48-7:56 pm
6th Period	8:02-8:10 pm
7th Period	8:16-8:24 pm

School Site Council in Brief:
The School Site Council (SSC) is the vehicle by which the school community comes together to chart the school's path towards improvement. One of the principal tenets of improving school wide effectiveness is that the individuals closest to the students be more involved in making significant decisions affecting the instructional program of the school. The SSC is made up of 3 parents, 3 students, 3 teachers, 2 classified personnel, and 1 school administrator. The goal is to have all stakeholders come together to chart a path for the school. The SSC will meet once a month from 6:45-7:30 am (time is subject to change).

The Independence summer mailer requested interested parents to self-nominate by calling the school.

Parent representation on the School Site Council is very important. We ask that you cast your vote for parent representatives in the Cafeteria between 6:30-8:00 pm.

Test FAX machine instructions

Presumably, you want to test your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here?s how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-510-545-0990 (a number in Northern California.) When it?s finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax Tag http://faxtag.net/ ? it?s a fun web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero http://faxzero.com/ this site lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring ? hopefully it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

How Can I Test My Fax Machine?

I just bought up a new fax machine, and I'd like to test it, just to make sure it works. How can I do that?

Presumably, you want to send your fax machine by sending a fax from it and receiving a fax with it. Here's how to do both.

To test the send functionality of your fax machine, send a one-page fax to 1-855-330-1239 (a toll-free number in the United States.) When it is finished transmitting, point your web browser to Fax.Tax — it's a fax web site that displays whatever is faxed to that number. Within a minute, your fax should appear on the site. Click the thumbnail to see a large version.

To test the receive functionality of your fax machine, point your web browser to FaxZero; that also lets you send faxes for free to anywhere in the United States and Canada. Within a few minutes, your fax machine should ring — hopefully it will automatically answer and spit out the test fax.

OFFICE MEMO

TO: ALL EMPLOYEES

SUBJECT: SPECIAL "EMPLOYEE BENEFIT" FOR FINANCIAL RELIEF PROGRAM

DATE: 10/10/2011

CC: UNITED EMPLOYEE BENEFITS

This memo is to bring about awareness to a special "Covered Benefit" being provided free to all employees who are finding it difficult to manage personal financial hardships. The most important aspect of navigating through financial hardships is understanding all the options which are available. This "Benefit" is designed to educate employees to those options.

Surprisingly statistics are proving that although most all employed individuals qualify for special relief concessions from their creditors most are too afraid or embarrassed to secure professional assistance to achieve them. Additionally employees point to large upfront retainers most as being the second leading cause in not securing professional representation in helping to resolve these matters.

With these concerns being recognized the following "Benefits" claim number (02-534-436) is being provided to insure those employees that need help receive it without the need for upfront retainer costs for initial consultations.

100% assistance is guaranteed for all employees wishing to enter "Pre-legal Financial Restructuring" programs. These programs can assist in overcoming both current and or previously defeated debt. These are areas that United Employee Benefits can help.

- Special "0% interest" through "Restructured" credit card programs
- Credit Card accounts immediately reduced by as much as 65% (This is not bankruptcy)
  (This program applies specifically to those struggling to make minimum payments or unable to balance cover)

- "Financial Restructuring" is the leading reform necessary in meeting the financial requirements of those seeking or needing;
  1. Home Loan Mortgage modifications, and/or balance reductions
     ("Restructuring" balanced low risk management protocols with borrower's ability to repay)
  2. Home equity loans and 2nd mortgages eliminated under many "Pre-legal Financial Restructuring Strategies"

A special direct toll free hotline has been established connecting those that call with the various leading financial specialists. These include access to mortgage bankers, investment bankers, high level collection experts, portfolio managers and credit analysts.

It is worth pointing out that all communications (including the initial inquiry) with United Employee Benefits are covered under Federal Privacy laws which strictly prohibit any information being shared with creditors, employers or anyone without the employees formal written consent.

The claim number for this program is 02-534-436 (the claim number is only for benefits qualification under a program and does not in any way identify any employee or employers)

The toll free number is (888) 872-1112 press option 1

Inquiry by email customerservice@ueb.org website: www.ueb.org

Special note: Due to high call volumes at various times it is requested that employees who expect/are held times exceeding 2 minutes please press #1 and leave a message for a return call. Income inquiries please list area of concern ie., mortgage, credit cards (or both if applicable)

To remove for another phone call toll free (888) 400-0766

Dear Parent or Guardian

Last spring, students in Easton and Redding took the Smarter Balanced Assessment (SBA). SBA is a snapshot of student performance in mathematics and English language arts/literacy and includes the CT Core Standards. Students in grades 3 – 8 participated in the 2016 Smarter Balanced Assessment. Students' understanding of science content was assessed using the Connecticut Mastery Test (CMT) in grades 5 and 8.

The Smarter Balanced Assessments were administered entirely on the computer and adapted to individual performance within a grade level range as students answered test questions. Question types included multiple responses and performance tasks that asked students to demonstrate an array of problem solving skills. These tests measured how well our students perform in the areas of mathematics (concepts and procedures, problem solving and modeling & data analysis, and communicating reasoning) and literacy (reading, writing, listening and research/inquiry). Within the score range, four performance levels have been established for each content area. These four levels, in order from the highest to the lowest, are Exceeds (4), Meets (3), Approaching (2) and Does Not Meet (1). The overall Goal Range is comprised of the scores at the two highest levels, Exceeds and Meets. Scoring in the Goal Range is a challenging, yet reasonable expectation for Connecticut students. The SBA scores are carefully reviewed and analyzed by school district personnel to inform areas for improvement in curriculum and instruction and to identify students who may need additional academic support or enrichment.

Since the SBA assessments measure higher standards than previous state assessments, the definitions of grade-level performance is also more rigorous than it was with previous tests. For the first few years, fewer students may meet grade-level standards. It is important to note that this does not mean that students are doing worse than previous years, but rather that students are being assessed by more challenging academic standards than before. Results should improve as students have additional years of instruction aligned to the new standards and become better equipped to meet the challenges they present. The Smarter Balanced Assessment included testing accommodations for some students as outlined in Individual Education Plans, Section 504 Plans or by English Learner eligibility.

The State Department of Education website and Smarter Balanced website provide additional information about the SBA, its purpose and test item examples. The website addresses are: http://www.sde.ct.gov and http://www.smarterbalanced.org/smarter-balanced-assessments/

Please do not hesitate to contact your child's school should you have questions or concerns regarding your child's scores.

Sincerely

Stephanie Pierson Ugni, Ed.D

INTRODUCTION TO REVISED APPLICATION (responses to critiques).

We thank the reviewers (R1, R2, and R3) for appreciating the proposed research, their insightful critiques have enabled us to submit a very strong revised application. The revised proposal is submitted by two principal investigators (Ayar, Kelly), a change that has strengthened the resubmission and emphasized its innovative and collaborative approaches. Additional preliminary data supporting the revised specific aims are included in the resubmission. Minor changes in the revised proposal are marked [ins] and major changes are marked [MAJ] below, for brevity and clarity we have responded to the reviewers' critiques by section.

SIGNIFICANCE Relevance of mammalian models to Leishmania biology (R1, R2, R3): Recent studies reveal significant changes in gene expression between Leishmania promastigote and amastigote stages, and between log phase promastigotes and infective stationary phase metacyclics. Concurrently there are changes at specific AT-rich strand switch regions used for transcription initiation, including histone acetylation and recruitment of transcription mechinery similar to the evolutionary mechanisms employed by metazoan AT-hook proteins to regulate chromatin structure and gene expression. In addition over-expression of histone H1 that binds AT-rich DNA, represses gene expression in mammalian cells and Leishmania. Repression is also observed when Leishmania H1 is expressed in mammalian cells. Thus at least one Leishmania chromatin binding protein functions equivalently in metazoan cells, indicating that fundamental properties of conserved chromatin associated proteins are preserved between metazoans and Leishmania. Therefore it is reasonable to test models for the function of Leishmania AT-hook proteins based on observations made in other eukaryotes. Knock out of LmjF06.0720: R1 R2 and R3 expressed concerns that it may be impossible to knock out LmjF06.0720. We concur: new experiments presented in the preliminary data indicate that AT-hook proteins are critical to Leishmania survival. Therefore Specific Aim 1 has been re-written completely and is no longer dependant on a knockout. Relatedness of Aims 1 & 2, raised by R3: The revised application describes how results from Aim 2 may reveal novel properties of LmjF06.0720 using our recent observations on a metazoan AT-hook protein as precedent (EMBO J. 27:3024, 2008).

INVESTIGATORS. Productivity of Principal Investigators: After joining LSUHSC in 2007 Dr. Kelly had acquired impressive amounts of preliminary data relevant to the proposed studies that are already submitted for publication. He has presented data at three international conferences this year. His reputation as a parasitologist is indicated by serving as an Associate Editor for PLoS Neglected Tropical Diseases and PLoS ONE. Dr. Aiyar's research was severely impacted by Hurricane Katrina due to the loss of critical biological materials. These reagents were reconstructed from 2005-2008 since then Dr. Aiyar's group has published five manuscripts including three on AT-hook proteins in EMBO J. J. Virology and PLoS Pathogens and one on Ebola virus plasmids in Virology J. An additional manuscript is currently in press and two others are submitted. Dr. Aiyar's knowledge of trypanosomatid nuclear biology acquired over the last year is reflected in the revised proposal. To mitigate the effect of natural disasters, now both investigators bank reagents at other institutions.

INNOVATION R3's concerns that Aim 1 mirrors approaches used for other AT-hook proteins: With respect we emphasize that using robust established approaches to investigate unexplored areas of Leishmania biology in Aim 1 should engender confidence in our ability to successfully complete the proposed aims. Further these approaches continue to reveal novel functions of metazoan AT-hook proteins such as a recently described role in cell-cycle controlled DNA replication (EMBO J. 27:3024, 2008). Therefore key differences in the biology of AT-hook proteins between Leishmania and mammalian cells revealed by our studies cannot be ascribed merely to differences in methodologies. permitting them to be exploited confidently as novel therapeutic targets. Finally an innovative pephidomimetic is used to study LmjF06.0720 in Aim 1c.

APPROACH 1) R1 R2 R3 have raised concerns about knocking out LmjF06.0720 that are addressed above. 2) Experimental caveats and multiple alternative approaches as described alongside each sub-aim of the revised proposal. 3) Concerns of R1 & R3 about relevance of AT hook function in metazoans to Leishmania are addressed above under "Significance" and in the revised proposal's Background section.

ENVIRONMENT R3 is concerned about the intellectual environment for Dr. Kelly at LSUHSC. Dr Kelly interacts extensively with other parasitologists at Tulane and has joint lab meetings with LSUHSC investigators studying the pathogenic eukaryotes Candida, Cryptococcus and T. cruzi. Drs Ayar & Kelly interact daily with joint group meetings every fortnight. They meet regularly with other molecular biologists at LSUHSC and Tulane. Recent publications by Dr. Ayar in highly-rated journals should further allay concerns that the intellectual environment at LSUHSC is not conducive to productive research of high quality.

BIOHAZARDS As requested by R2 & R3 the revised proposal describes biohazards and their safe handling.

RESOURCE SHARING PLAN The inappropriate omission of a resource sharing plan noted by R2 & R3 is rectified in the revised proposal.

9, is not automatic. It is manually entered as before: 9 + area + number
No idea what the fax rate is set to. Old fax machines, so whatever rate it is, would be slow. Each one might even be different, as they are different models.
Testing internally: dialing 9 and 10 digit number (outside to inside)
Externally: they are able to receive faxes from outside folks, unable to SEND to anyone. Internally: we're unable to test from device to device or floor to floor or between departments in the building on the same cisco system.
No other analog lines in the building that I can access, all were switched over to with the new cisco equipment a few months ago.

So, given the necessarily proprietary knowledge needed to respond to NSF and the universal ability to ignore it and continue with a DIS/DCS controlled call, what's the problem? The problem is something called demodemod. Virtually all the high capacity leased phone networks use some type of translation device to change the T.30 messages of a fax into an intermediate protocol (demodulation) so that they can achieve their transmission performance advantages over the standard PSTN once that protocol is changed back into T.30 (remodulation). That has become even more pointed with the advent of Voice over IP (VoIP) wherein the switched circuit PSTN is replaced by the switched packet Internet which requires a gateway of some sort to convert signals between them. Of late the intermediate protocol of choice has become T.38 transferred by UDPTL packets. As long as the gateways that boot to perform this transcoding have a T.30 fax call to work with, all well and good. But what happens when the originating device communicating through a pair of these gateways discovers an NSF message from an answerer that it recognizes and responds to with an NSS and a blast of proprietary page code? The gateways simply throw up their hands and go out like a bear.

A VoIP gateway becomes by nature of its operation a fax terminal. It has to field a T.30 call as though it were either answering the call (connected to the originating terminal) or originating the call (connected to the answering terminal). In point of fact, a pair of gateways must emulate two simultaneous fax calls (manual themselves and the two fax terminals while transferring the T.38 intermediate protocol content between their IP ports. There is no spare host to handle NSF/NSS. For this session, gateways of all types VoIP and otherwise, either zero out the content of the NSF message or delete it entirely from each fax call they carry. This ensures that their fax calls stay within the T.30 protocol and limits their support of fax to dealing only with the vagaries of T.30's implementation in the terminals.

It sounds like a good solution right up until the user, who actually bought identical fax machines because he liked their high-speed, clean page communications over the PSTN, connects them to the VoIP gateways and is informed that all the wonderful performance has evaporated!

In the late '70s, T.30 was created to make fax machines something they had never been before, interoperable. But many of their manufacturers needed to go outside of T.30 and continue to use some of their non-standard tricks and abilities. The integrated circuit had begun to make good on its promise to produce a bounty of affordable consumer electronics. This meant that fax machines could go from being arcane, proprietary and extremely expensive to commodities… if only their makers could get over the temptation to make their calls different in a way no one else could work with. Clearly a compromise was called for.

The T.30 facsimile protocol was written with many of its tolerances specified loosely enough to accommodate most of the odd stretch and compression of timing and signal control that had plagued the interoperability scene the inception of its market. In numerous places, it was carefully written to be as generally accepting as was possible and still support the desire for inter-operation that caused it to be created in the first place. What it couldn't do was accept all manner of and page image resolutions, strange encoding and outright changes to the signal flow between terminals. Those manufacturers who really wanted to use their deeply proprietary

"Sit still. Pay attention. Try harder." Words that miss the point?

"I've written this book about our family to bring a better awareness and understanding of learning disabilities to the general public," says author and dyslexia researcher Nancy Lelewer. A dyslexic herself, Ms. Lelewer writes about her experience raising four children, three of whom had some form of learning disability at a time when very little was known about learning differences.

A Passage from Something's Not Right: One Family's Struggle with Learning Disabilities

Miss Lock cleared her throat. We were at an awkward juncture. She was a sympathetic woman and undoubtedly what she had to say was painful for her, although not as painful for her to say as for me to hear. After all, Kelly and Whitney had already blazed a family trail through Ridge's nursery program, and Penny was scheduled to begin next year.

And Brian? To put it charitably, Brian had proved to be a challenge. The file in front of Miss Lock was a prop, an unnecessary aid to her memory. No teacher would ever forget Brian.

Praise from Professionals

"Something's Not Right speaks to parents and teachers clearly, realistically and nonjudgmentally about the plight and the potential of bright children who march to different drummers."
—Dr. Rosemary F. Rooker, Executive Editor of the Learning Disabilities Network, Past Executive Director of The Orton Dyslexia Society

"Something's Not Right goes a long way to help reduce the needless, corrosive guilt that is often born by parents when their children fail to develop normally."
—Dr. Howard T. Hermann, Professor of Psychiatry at Boston University School of Medicine

ENEMY In the White House

All of this as obama pledg ng his allegiance to islam NOT America from one point of his agenda to the other. When speaking to different islam groups. "I'm one of you" "We are not a christian nation" also apologizing for America's sovereignty from them simply not he is offering all the west and freinds as infedels as in both christian and muslim beliefs it is wrong to support and state how we must let him teach and expose our children against the puhre will of the sexual perversion of the homosexual cult, presumed as if good is however as a practising Muslim or Christian who know that is wrong and defiles both beliefs thus adding a further cause for Islam to destroy America removeing the only reason we are an exceptional country because of the truth found in the knowledge of the god of Abraham, loved here and now and gurantee to be able to worship as we see fit imposed sermon's obama will not use our constitution as a guide because he claims it's flawed. He hopes to reduce the current American pemination by providing the kallmas (Abortions) at your cost as he's influencing the illegal immigration from all the world. He wants you to pay for the health care and retirement payments for the government and union workers as they dont need to save for their "entitlement". for all others to be given health care rather they sie into sickness or not, at your cost, all covered. To further destabilize our sovereignty by handing over more of our finances to the UN, to be used in their prosperity as well as funding most all other countries in their needs. with growing american citizens out of work he floods the number of workers with illegal s and prosecute the coconspirators who hire the criminals. He claimed the "Job Act" or "union payback" for the union teachers (indoctrinators), union police officers, union contractors union media and other cash supporters for the demorrares entitlements paid by the citizens in higher taxes. Now to add forced health care payments as well , attempting to remove christianity all together from all facets of our society As he spends as out into no hope of recovery His hope as America falls to her knees and has the UN be the savior from that point on, along with Hillery Clinton, off to the side , working the Prepair work that events as they will have the best seats . He is preventing us from prospering from our own oil and gas to allow us to move away from depending on middle west (Islam profits). as well as to cause us to be unable to function as a nation and fight back when the middle east cuts off the supply when they decide to decide. He reduces our armery as not to be able to defend ourselfs when the UN and other nations combine their armery to take our resources. Then it's the U S another place to reign for the cause of Islam. He knows he has placed the stepping stones thus far. YES many Americans will hide that truth, instead of how satan rode them into the ballot box when the tree of knowledge is given to who ever gets the presidential seat once elected, given it by all those who likes the their job in Washington, makes any sun seem right. Then like obama, you realize your sentance. now the heart and mind, unseen before, your conquerer and chief it's now clear neither the DNC or the RNC may not have the will of these people in mind at all, but rather the one world together in government. one that's away from sovereignty where a country can make it s own controls to fit it's internal functions. both American political parties have accepted communist strategies in their own devices in seek of the prior available with our God given resources for self into a place of the one world government. They see their seats rather comfortable as the civilian's continue to fall from this day forward We the people" will begin "Our voice" away from the current White House now taken from us. We hope to regain our country, unrelated to the current people now in criminal acts against America It's revival or die as a free nation my fellow citizens. Conversion to he side is option two.. I propose to change the system so that when density card output is requested, slotted densities are punched out. In the nor mal case these would simply be the average densities. If the test code calls for E.N.D. conversion, it would be the E.N.D. densities that are punched out. If the test breaks down, e.g. because of range check failure, we would get cards punched out for individual strips, since individuals are plotted in that case.

I would appreciate your comments on this proposal by January 2, 1971
